PEERS CALL FOR A UNITED JAP NATION

Hirohito Opens Parliamentary Session Urging People To Surmount Manifold Hardships

WAR IS "TERMINATED"

By RUSSELL BRINES
Tokyo, Sept. 4.—(P)—Emperor Hirohito urged the Japanese people to "win the confidence of the world" and commanded them to obey the nation's commitments in an imperial rescript opening the 88th extraordinary session of the diet today.

The emperor personally opened the two-day parliamentary session by reading the sober, comprehensive rescripts to a plenary gathering in the ornate house of peers.

It was the emperor's first public appearance since he startled the nation with his surrender announcement of August 15.

San Francisco, Sept. 4.—(P)—The Japanese house of peers this afternoon resolved "to acknowledge the reality of our defeat" and "to cut a way out of the present situation and embark upon a new course of national rebuilding."

Emperor Hirohito himself opened the parliamentary session this morning, calling for the Japanese to "surmount the manifold hardships and trials attending termination of the war, make manifest the innate glory of Japan national policy, win the confidence of the world, and devote ourselves to reconstruction in every field."

The resolution adopted later by the house of peers expressed determination to rebuild the nation "with a view to safeguarding the age-old national structure and contributing to world peace, in order that his majesty's mind may be put at rest."

Hirohito had terminated the war, the resolution said, "in profound consideration of the welfare of his subjects."

The emperor, who appeared briefly in person at the opening session, did not once use the word "surrender" in the imperial rescript as broadcast by the Domei Agency, but merely referred to termination of the war and "cessation of hostilities."

He said he had directed the ministers of state to "explain the foreign and domestic conditions and the course of events that have led to the extraordinary measure."

All Japanese were called upon to "unite in service to the state with greater zeal than ever."

The lower house immediately adopted a reply expressing "appreciation of the efforts exerted by officers and men of the imperial forces as well as endeavors on the home front."

The opening session lasted only 25 minutes, but included a report on commerce and industry which said that Japanese aircraft production hit a peak of 2,857 per month in June, 1944, and dropped to 1,003 last July, according to the Domei broadcast recorded by the Federal Communications Commission.

Domei also reported that General MacArthur had ordered the Tokyo radio to suspend immediately all foreign language broadcasts, confining itself to the Japanese language. The report on this order was broadcast in English, however.

A diet member, 88-year-old Yukio Ozaki, speaking before the session opened, was quoted by Domei as declaring that "a complete overhauling of education is necessary to pound into the people's heads the laws of humanity—the difference between right and wrong."

DDT DOES THE TRICK

Pittsburgh, Sept. 4.—(P)—DDT—the army's miracle insecticide—eliminates all flies and insects in the first 16 dwellings sprayed, the Allegheny County Housing Authority disclosed. M. A. Sanders, general manager, said immediately following spraying with a four per cent solution, the insects increased. But 10 days later every fly and insect was dead.

Death Crash Near Bradford Probed

Bradford, Sept. 3.—(P)—County authorities were investigating the death of Andrew Verost, a construction foreman, whose car plunged off a bridge into the Allegheny river near Port Allegany Sunday.

Verost was last seen by friends who reported he planned to drive to Niagara Falls to spend Labor Day with his family.

The man was employed by the Ross Steel Erection Company of Niagara Falls, N. Y., and was doing contract work at the Pittsburgh-Corning Glass Corp. plant at Port Allegany.

Plan Surrender of Japs in China Area

Chungking, Sept. 4.—(P)—Troops of the American-trained and American-equipped Chinese sixth army, which helped drive the Japanese from North Burma, will fly to Nanking today for the formal surrender of Japanese forces in the China theater scheduled for Thursday, the high command announced.

The movement was scheduled to start several days ago, but was held up by bad weather.

The high command reported the junction of forces under Gen. Yen Hsi-Shan from Shan-shi province and Gen. Fu Tsi from the inner Mongolian province of Suifuang at Tatung in northern Shansi.

Jackson Run Man is Killed On Crossing

Bert D. Hinsdale, who resides on Warren RD 2, on the Jackson Run road, was instantly killed this afternoon shortly after one o'clock when a Chevrolet car he was driving was struck and demolished on Scott crossing of the Erie railroad, in Columbus township about two miles east of the Corry line, according to word received by Coroner Ed Lowrey early this afternoon.

According to meagre information received Mr. Hinsdale left this morning apparently to attend a sale at the Bert Stockton farm in Columbus township. It was while crossing the tracks near Columbus that the coupe was struck by Erie passenger train No. 7, westbound.

The body was removed to the Bracken & Keating funeral home in Corry and will be taken later today to the Schoonover funeral home in Sugar Grove. More complete obituary and funeral announcement will be made later.

Jimmy Stewart Is Anxious To Get Back to Movie Studios

Indiana, Pa., Sept. 4.—(P)—Lean, Lanky Jimmy Stewart, home from the wars, is anxious to get back to Hollywood and the business of making movies—but he'd like his next picture to be a comedy.

"The public has had enough war movies," the Air Corps and screen hero declared. "They don't need any more to remind them 'not to forget'."

"Besides," he explained, "I think it will take three or four years for people to write good stories about the war. They need time to get a good representative."

Col. Stewart came home yesterday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Stewart, who had gone to New York to meet him.

A bit gray after four and a half years in the army, and a little thinner, he spent the day lolling

Five-Point "Must" Program Is On Tap for Peace Congress

Washington, Sept. 4.—(P)—President Truman has drafted a comprehensive message for delivery to congress this week, the White House said today, and later will submit his views on disposition of the atomic bomb in a separate communication.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters he would announce final plans tomorrow, after a conference between the president and congressional leaders.

Ross said he would not be able to say until then whether the messages will be sent to Capitol Hill or delivered by the president in person, or what day they will be presented.

Ross recalled that some time ago Mr. Truman said he would recommend to congress the creation of a commission to decide what to do about the atomic bomb.

Soon after the first peacetime congress in almost four years meets tomorrow it will receive what Ross described as "quite a comprehensive message" from Mr. Truman. The president completed it yesterday during a holiday cruise on the Potomac river aboard the presidential yacht Potomac.

The reassembling legislators will form the "reconversion congress" as distinguished from the war congresses that have been in almost continuous session since late in 1941.

Facing the lawmakers returning from vacations cut short by war's end will be five administration-tagged "must" proposals dealing with:

1. Jobs for everyone willing and able to work. Congressional committees have been grappling with this one—the so-called "full employment bill"—for some time.

2. Unemployment compensation. Senate and house committees are working on proposals to pay as much as $25 weekly for 26 weeks to workers unable to find jobs.

3. Surplus property disposal. A bill to substitute a single administrator for the three-man board now in charge of getting rid of war-borne surpluses will be ready for house action next week.

4. Reorganization of executive agencies. Mr. Truman wants authority to abolish or merge many agencies. Committee sentiment (Turn to Page Nine)

More Changes In Military Posts Hinted

Washington, Sept. 4.—(P)—Japan's formal surrender has cleared the way for more changes in the Truman administration, including a possible reorganization of the military high command.

Gen. Geo. C. Marshall, 64, who passed up an opportunity to retire nearly two years ago, may step down within months, possibly to be succeeded as chief of staff by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, who will be 73 September 21, also is said to be considering retirement to make way for a younger man.

Meanwhile, President Truman soon will send to congress his selection for federal loan administrator and the supreme court vacancy created by the retirement of Justice Owen J. Roberts.

The months ahead also may see the retirement of Admiral Ernest J. King, 66-year-old chief of naval operations, thus opening the way for the promotion of someone like Lake Erie fish supply increased despite heavy annual catches.

TWO JURORS SELECTED TO HEAR TRIAL

Work of Securing Panel To Try Youngsville Woman On Homicide Charge Proceeds Slowly

DEFENDANT IS CALM

Gowned in a form fitting black dress which well set off her slightly rouged cheeks and her golden blonde hair which fell in ringlets about her face and neck Mrs. Adeline McKinney stood between her attorneys this morning and in a clear voice answered "I plead not guilty."

Her plea was entered following the reading of the indictment by Clerk of Courts Addison White which set forth that the comely young woman had shot and killed her husband Wendell McKinney, of Youngsville July 16 at their pretty cozy home. Mrs. McKinney this morning seemed calm and much of the nervousness that was apparent at her arraignment and hearing seemingly had disappeared. Her form was erect and her eyes clear and her voice was steady.

Judge Allison Wade, who is presiding, at one time had to caution the 100 or more women and a handful of men in the court against any demonstrations and threatened to have any removed who interfered with the decorum of the court.

The work of calling a jury to hear the case was taken up immediately after the case was called. The roll of jurors was heard and then all prospective jurors were removed to the small court room and are summoned only when called into the trial court.

The first juror called was Mrs. Blanch Borchers, a widow of Warren. She stated that she had read some of the case but had formed no opinion which would prevent her from forming a verdict in accord with the evidence and the law. She was seated as Juror No. 1.

Mrs. Viola Putnam, Russell housewife, was seated as Juror No. 2 after she had stated that she had read of the case but had formed no opinion.

Martin Urges Tax Reduction By Congress

Hershey, Sept. 4.—(P)—A 20 per cent reduction by congress of federal income taxes was urged by Governor Edward Martin today as the "shot-in-the-arm so desperately needed by lagging reconversion."

The Pennsylvania Republican executive, addressing a conference of the 18 G. O. P. congressmen from the Keystone state, also called for a decrease in expenditures, including a cut of federal employees, as a start toward balancing the federal budget.

"A twenty-per cent income tax reduction, coupled with corresponding reductions in various corporate taxes," Martin told the Republican congressmen, "would prove the greatest incentive to expanding industrial and commercial activity which our nation could enjoy."

He called for "a pledge by a majority of congress, made soon after you reconvene, that such a realistic tax program will be made effective before next March 15th."

Expenditures, the governor said, should be reduced "far enough below revenues to permit us to pay the interest on the debt and start retiring it."

Fish Commissioner Buller Succumbs

Harrisburg, Sept. 4.—(P)—Nathan F. Buller, Pennsylvania fish commissioner under five governors, and a noted conservationist, died at his home here last night. He would have been 85 on December 1.

Buller, who raised millions of fish during 55 years as a fish culturist, was a pioneer builder of fish hatcheries and led the fight a score of years ago for licensed fishing in the Keystone state.

"I worked ten years for that," he declared in later years. "There was opposition at first but fishermen realized it was a good thing."

Buller won note as a conservationist in working with officials of the Dominion of Canada and the state of Ohio in preservation of Lake Erie fisheries with result the Lake Erie fish supply increased despite heavy annual catches.

Attlee Puts War Blame Upon Japan

By GLENN WILLIAMS

London, Sept. 4.—(P)—Prime Minister Attlee last night pinned the blame for the six years of war upon failure to deal sternly with Japanese aggression 14 years ago, and declared victory will have been in vain unless all are ready to shoulder "the heavy responsibility that our victory entails."

"It will be our task in closest association with other nations to which war shall everywhere be banished," he told the British people in a speech marking the sixth anniversary of Britain's entry into World War 2.

Attlee announced that Britain's sole endeavor in Europe now would be "to enable the will of the people to prevail and to assist in the establishment everywhere of governments resting on popular consent."

The prime minister outlined British forces with as much speed as possible, warned that British troops would be needed in far places for occupation duties for some time to come; estimated that in order to bring British production back to pre-war levels, "we require an increase of about 5,000,000 workers."

The chain of events which led to the greatest war in history Attlee traced to Japanese invasion of Manchuria in 1931.

"Failure to deal with this first breach of the peace destroyed the authority of the League of Nations," he asserted.

The world should have learned from the first World War, he said, that "peace is indivisible and that it can only be preserved by the resolute maintenance of the rule of law all over the world."

DOUBLE MURDER AND SUICIDE IS PROBED

Wilkes-Barre, Sept. 4.—(P)—An investigation into what police termed a double murder and suicide was at an impasse today for lack of witnesses.

The bodies of Ubaldo Marinelli, 49; his wife, Enrica, 47, and Marinelli's partner in a grocery firm, Settino Reganani, 55, were discovered in a blood splattered room at Marinelli's home yesterday.

A post mortem examination by Dr. W. L. Lanyon disclosed that the Marinelli couple died as a result of bullet wounds and many stabs and slashes, apparently inflicted by a razor.

Reganani, Dr. Lanyon reported, probably died of carbon monoxide fumes from illuminating gas.

352 Deaths Counted Over The Holiday

By the Associated Press

America's first peacetime holiday since 1941 brought tragedy as well as celebration. At least 352 deaths were reported as Labor Day observance came to an end.

The accidental death toll jumped this year from 245 for Labor Day weekend 1944, but still was considerably lower than 626 toll for Labor Day, 1941, before Pearl Harbor.

Automobile accidents accounted for much of the increase over last year's toll. At least 104 persons were killed traffic. There were 68 drownings and 90 fatalities from miscellaneous causes.

Illinois reported the highest state toll with 36 deaths—18 from traffic accidents, five from drownings and 13 from miscellaneous accidents.

Pennsylvania's Labor Day holiday was marred by at least eight traffic fatalities and two drownings.

M'ARTHUR GIVES HIS ARMIES AUTHORITY TO REQUISITION SUPPLIES AS GRIP EXPANDS

Japs Are Instructed to Turn All Existing Prisoner of War Camps Over to Highest Ranking Officer Interned in Each

ENTRY SCHEDULED THURSDAY NIGHT, U. S. TIME

By The Associated Press
Yokohama, Sept. 4.—New landings today expanded the American occupation forces' powerful grip on the Tokyo area, and General MacArthur, in a general order, gave his armies authority to requisition anything they need in Japan.

First occupation of Tokyo itself, scheduled for Friday, is to be outlined in detail at a meeting of the Japanese First Army Command with Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, American Eighth Army commander, at Yokohama Wednesday.

MacArthur instructed the Japanese to turn all existing prisoner of war camps over to the highest ranking officer interned in each, and gave him authority to demand of the Japanese whatever food and medical care is necessary for his camp.

The initial Tokyo occupation force will number only 3,350, said the Japanese government, commencing announcing that the entry was scheduled Friday, (Thursday night, U. S. time).

The communique said policemen would be detailed to maintain law and order in all areas of occupation; government organs and public organizations would continue to function as usual, and all negotiations between American forces and Japanese authorities would be conducted by liaison officials.

Preceding the occupation of Tokyo, General MacArthur's troops were to half-encircle the capital with new landings today, while 120 miles southwest naval forces landed at Hamamatsu and other landings were being made at Takau, port city of Kyushu island, 600 miles southwest of Tokyo, and at Kanoya airfield, also on Kyushu.

Hamamatsu was shelled by the American and British fleets on July 20. Kanoya airfield was the base from which the Japanese launched their heavy, costly Kamikaze suicide raids against American forces on Okinawa.

Led by minesweepers, two destroyers and six small troopships steamed without incident into Kagoshima bay to land their forces at Takau's beaches.

Associated Press Correspondent Robin Coombs, aboard Jensen's flagship, radioed that American planes already were landing at Kanoya.

By nightfall, nearly 100,000 Americans were scheduled to be on Japanese soil—with four times that many due to be landed during the month for a total of a half-million.

Meanwhile, the Imperial diet (Turn to Page Nine)

Warren Man Freed From Prison Camp

Word is received here today that Pvt. Leon W. Campbell, brother of Mrs. D. A. Scallie, was listed among American prisoners liberated at Camp Hoten at Mukden, Manchuria, on August 26.

A telegram from the War Department has advised his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Campbell, of Pleasantville, that further information will be given them as the department is advised.

Pvt. Campbell has been in service since February, 1941, and was sent to the Philippines from Fort Knox, Ky., in late summer of that year. He was captured at Bataan and remained a prisoner in the islands until two years ago.

The family then received word from the Japanese through the Red Cross that he had been transferred to Manchuria and placed in Camp Hoten prison. His family has had no direct word from him since his capture.

In its telegram, the War Department granted the family permission to send a 25-word cablegram to him, also a 200-word letter which the Red Cross will deliver to him when he arrives in Manila.

Murray Asks Rise In Salary Levels

Pittsburgh, Sept. 4.—(P)—A rise in the general wage level was asked by CIO President Philip Murray in a Labor Day broadcast yesterday.

"The purchasing power of the people must be maintained at the highest possible level," the CIO leader declared. "To enable consumers to buy goods essential to their health and welfare and thereby provide full employment."

"These men and women are not simply numbers in a statistical table," Murray said. "They are living, breathing human beings who must have continuous employment with a good income to provide themselves and their families with good and ample food, clothing, peace and shelter."

Superintendent Urges Young People to Return to School

Interviewed at the high school this morning on the reopening of borough schools on Wednesday, Superintendent John G. Rossmann expressed the opinion that many young people of this community were standing at a very important crossroads today and their decision concerning continuation of their education will be one that will effect the remainder of their lives.

Some of the young people, he explained, are students who dropped out of school in the past year and some are those who have had full-time employment for the first time during the wartime emergency.

"It is a great temptation," he continued, "to go on with that work instead of returning to a classroom. But the great danger lies in the fact that if they do not return now, their high schooling never will be finished."

Concluding, he asked these future citizens to give very serious thought to this problem and made an urgent plea for parents and employers to advise with them concerning this important step.

a protection umbrella as U. S. warships neared Japan last Aug. 23. The Yanks were taking no chances with possible treachery. The planes in the air represented only a portion of the strength the carriers could have hurled against any enemy.

Reports Say War Prisoner Camps to Go October First

Reports are current that the war prisoner camps in this section will be closed about October 1st, and the hundreds of prisoners quartered there will be sent home. There are three camps in this section, one at Bull Hill, near Sheffield; one at Red Bridge, near Kinzua and the other at Duhring, Forest county. In all there are about 500 German prisoners of war in the three camps.

The men have been engaged in the cutting of pulp wood and also wood for the manufacture of roofing materials. They were rather an arrogant lot when brought to the camps but since Germany crashed in defeat they have been working with better results than they did in the past.

The location of the camps in the vicinity has aided business as supplies were purchased from local bakeries, stores and other places. The big trucks from the camp have been familiar sights on the Warren streets. Guards from the camp have also been frequenters of the city and have made many friends here.

Just what disposition will be made of the camps when they are vacated is not known.

With the rush of men of the U. S. Forces to this side of the Atlantic there will soon be plenty of shipping available to send the Germans home.

Holiday Quiet With Business Practically Suspended

Labor Day 1945 was one of the most quiet days in Warren that could possibly have been imagined. Business generally was at a standstill and almost every industry in the town was shut down except for maintenance crews and most of the stores were closed tightly. All state, city and county offices were closed, all banks were shut tightly and there were no market reports. The Times Mirror did not publish as usual.

Traffic in the city was heavy and hundreds of out of state cars were noted on the streets passing through Warren. Warrenites took advantage of the reports burdened with families and well filled lunch baskets. The sales of gas at the various stations about town set a record for any time since the war broke out. Tires only caused any hesitancy in Warrenites taking to the road.

Despite the heavy traffic the holiday weekend was fairly free from accidents. There was but one serious accident reported and that took place near Spring Creek and one woman was so seriously injured that she was removed to the Corry Hospital. A number of minor collisions took place but they merely resulted on slight damage to cars.

Union Signs Wage Pact With Sylvania

The Sylvania Electric Products Inc., and the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America have reached complete accord on their first contract in the Warren area. The contract provides plant-wide seniority, grievance procedure with arbitration provision, paid vacations with one half week for employees with six months service, one week for one year employees and two weeks for three years service; time and one half payment for all hours worked over eight hours in any one day and on Saturday the following holidays: New Year's Day, Decoration Day, and Labor Day; double time payment for all work on Sunday and Independence Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas. The contract further provides that returning war veterans receive their old jobs back at their old rate of pay plus any wage increases that go into effect during their absence, and that returning veterans have their service time count as seniority with the company.

On the issue of wages the contract provides that either party may open the wage clause once during the life of the agreement. The union urged that the company agree to arbitrate any dispute that may arise on the wage issue and the company has taken the union's proposal under advisement.

REV. BYRON BERRY ORDAINED SUNDAY
Rev. Byron B. Berry, pastor of the Millport church of the United Brethren and son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Berry, 102 South South street, this city, was ordained at the Sunday morning session of the 84th annual conference of the United Brethren denomination, Bishop J. B. Showers conducting the ordination rites at Findley Lake.
NEW PASTOR ASSIGNED
The United Brethren Conference has assigned the Rev. George Slaughenaupt to the Grand Valley church replacing the Rev. Leo McGaughey, who is transferred to the Williston, N. Y., church.
GO TO NEW HOME
Dr. Leonard Rosenzweig, appointed superintendent of the Dixmont State Hospital, was home over the weekend to move his wife and three children to their new home. They left for Dixmont today.
CANNING CENTER
Beginning Wednesday, it is announced today, the Warren Canning Center in the Bayer building will be open from four o'clock on for the regular Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday periods. Other days' work will be governed by appointment.
CAR ACCIDENT
State Police from the local barracks were called out at six o'clock Sunday evening when two cars crashed on Route 27 at Pittsfield Inn. Paul F. Ransom, 30, of Youngsville, driving a Ford sedan, failed to stop when a car ahead of him did so and struck the Ford sedan driven by George Mendel, 47, of 319 Elk avenue, Johnsonburg. Damage to the Ransom car was estimated at $35 and to Mendel's Ford at $20.
FORGE PICNIC SUCCESS
The annual picnic of the National Forge and Ordnance Co. held at Wilder Field Monday afternoon for employees and the families proved a great success. Fair weather and a most enjoyable program attracted hundreds of picnickers to the field and nearby groves. The committee charge was highly congratulated for the fine entertainment. Complete account of the outing will be printed Wednesday.

Barnes, August 28—The body of Mrs. Christine Rhines, wife of Henry W. Rhines of Oil City was brought here for interment last Friday afternoon. Mrs. Rhines, nee Christine Donaldson, spent her girlhood years in Barnes, moving to Reno, then on to Oil City, after she was married. The following brothers and sisters survive: Mrs. Chas. Schuler, Barnes; Mrs. E. N. Roselle, Southburg, Conn.; Mrs. Fred Pittcock and James Donaldson of Kane and Lewis Donaldson of Hadley, Penna. Relatives of this vicinity entertained the members of the funeral party at a dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Schuler Friday evening, there being more than fifty who were served.

Mrs. W. D. Barnes went to Erie Saturday evening where she will be a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Barnes and family.

Mr. Jacob Hahn was pleasantly surprised Tuesday, to receive a shower of cards and gifts, honoring him on his eighty-seventh birthday.

The members of the Thimble Club enjoyed an outing Tuesday evening. After a dinner at Angles' Restaurant in Sheffield, they went on to Kane and attended a show.

Mrs. Chas. Cowan spent Monday and Tuesday in Kane.

Mrs. Robert Curtin of Jamestown, N. Y., visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Curtin over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Allen of Olean, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Spicer of Saybrook were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Spicer Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lyle of Dayton, Ohio, were guests at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Lyle over the weekend.

Mrs. Spencer Conklin of Warren spent Tuesday visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rudolph.

Mrs. Robert Carroll and daughter, Miss Ruth Carroll, left for Baltimore, Md., Friday morning, where they expect to make their future home. Dr. Carroll is now engaged in rehabilitation work for the U. S. Government.

Gordon Carlson Seaman 2/c of the U. S. Navy and Miss Lois Carlson of Jamestown, N. Y., were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rudolph.

The Free Methodist congregation held services in the local church Sunday afternoon. Miss Sue Palumbo of Buffalo, N. Y., is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Conquer this week.

Mrs. W. H. Brandt returned home from Youngsville Monday afternoon where she had spent several days visiting her sister, Mrs. O. B. Haupin.

Mrs. W. C. Hover had the misfortune to step through a trap door leading to the cellar in her home Tuesday afternoon. She was very seriously injured and is suffering from shock although there were no bones broken. Mrs. Harold Armitage of Corry is with her this week.

BARBER SHOP HOURS

Because of the Monday closing for Labor Day, barber shops of Warren will remain open all day Wednesday.

WILL MEET TONIGHT

The Town Council will hold its September meeting this evening in the City Building. There are a number of matters to come before the councilmen for action.

GIRL LOST PURSE

A brown purse containing a sum of money was lost by one of the girls at the Community Party held last evening at Beatty school. The purse was lost near the school and the finder is asked to return it to the Times-Mirror office.

DATE FOR DRIVES

Chairman Wylie Corbett this morning announced that county-wide drives will be made for waste paper and tin during the present month. The paper drive for the benefit of the United War Fund will be held September 19th and the tin can drive will be made on the 26th. Both of these materials are still badly needed and it is hoped that every resident of Warren county will help in making them successful.

WEEKEND WAS QUIET

Over the weekend the police were not taxed with any important work and in spite of the heavy traffic, holiday, etc., not much came in for action by the police. There were the customary howling dogs, folks with screaming radios and hilarity at parties. The coppers were prepared for a busy week but hundreds left the city on their first auto tours in years and the town was decidedly quiet.

GETTING BIG FISH

There seems to be a revival of "catching the big ones" in the river and at Walnut Bend last week Jimmy Nelson, 7, of Oil City hooked into a wall eyed pike that measured 30 inches and weighed nine and one-fourth pounds. The boy was excited over his catch and he was the envy of many old anglers. Some good catches in this vicinity were reported over the week end but there were no record breakers in the lot.

THE STATE POLICE SAY:

Your automobile or truck registration plate may be suspended in any one of the following cases: (1) When a vehicle is unsafe, unfit or improperly equipped; (2) For making or permitting unlawful use of a vehicle or registration plate; (3) For giving fictitious name, address or other false statement or committing other fraud in application; (4) For tendering uncollectible check for registration fees; (5) When motor vehicle is habitually used or operated in violation of the Motor Vehicle Laws.

Muskegon, Mich., and Mrs. C. D. Thompson of Clarion called at the home of Mrs. Anna Chandler last Friday afternoon.

The Misses Myra and Mable Hover, Mrs. Clara Covert and Richard Covert of Butler called at the home of Mrs. W. C. Hover and Mrs. F. J. Titus Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Rozelle have returned to their home in Southburg, Conn., after being called here by the death of her sister, Mrs. Henry Rhines.

Many of our local people attended the flower show in Sheffield Saturday evening.

Warren Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Miller, left Monday morning for induction into the armed forces. A group of our young people tendered him a surprise farewell party at his home last Friday evening. He was presented a purse of money.

Many Prizes and Trophies At Youngsville Horse Show

One thousand dollars in cash prizes and trophies will be divided amongst the winners of thirty-four classes scheduled on the program of the fifteenth annual Youngsville Community Horse show to be held at Islar 1 Park, Youngsville, on September 7th and 8th. Individuals and business concerns of Youngsville and Warren have made possible this generous premium figure.

The Youngsville Horse Show, always a popular event with horse owners and spectators alike, is now a member of the Interstate Horse Show Association, an association formed by horse show officials from New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania, to promote the growth and stimulate interest in the horse shows held in these three states. Youngsville's membership in this organization will increase the size of the entry list and number of spectators, making the 1945 show more exciting than ever before.

The show is divided into three sessions, the first one on Friday evening at 8 o'clock, September 7th, being devoted to pleasure and western horses. Starting at 2 p. m. on Saturday afternoon there are classes for the four divisions, consisting of five-gaited horses, three-gaited, hunters and jumpers. With other events, there are four stake classes on Saturday night, beginning at 8 o'clock, with the total cash prize on each stake class amounting to $150.

Horsemen from Youngsville and Warren form the committee in charge of the show, and Edward B. Day, entry secretary, states that released transportation and other favorable factors are encouraging owners of the top show horses in this section of the country to make application for entry into competition for their share of the prize money. The committee expect all classes to be filled, with a glamorous display of horse beauty and ability. As in the past, ringside parking as well as bleacher seats will be available for the many spectators who annually take advantage of the opportunity of seeing horses perform to perfection.

Yes, you can have GAS

for heating, cooking, refrigeration and water heating, as soon as gas burning appliances are available

If you are planning on the use of gas for any of the four big jobs (Home Heating, Cooking, Refrigeration or Automatic Water Heating) here is good news for you. Restrictions on the use of gas have been removed, but gas furnaces, gas ranges, gas refrigerators and automatic gas-fired water heaters, are not yet available in quantity.

It may be some time before you can buy the Gas appliances you want. However, all who want to enjoy the many benefits which gas brings can ultimately have them.

Prospective users of gas—particularly for heating—are asked to get in touch with their dealers, who will be able to supply gas designed equipment, when it becomes available. Pennsylvania Gas Company, in cooperation with appliance dealers, will furnish estimates of cost of gas heating and give engineering data on installation of equipment when desired.

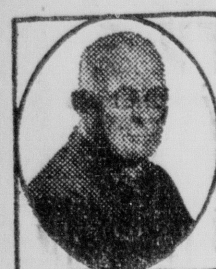

Yes, you can have Gas as soon as Gas Burning Appliances are available.

MAN LEARNS THE HARD WAY

The sixth anniversary of the start of World War II which was observed Saturday, finds it ended, with a sickening record of death and destruction such as never was envisioned short of Armageddon, when "every island fled away and the mountains were not found."

Man can now make the islands flee into nothingness and the mountains disappear through the atomic bomb. With the revelation of this cosmic weapon, cynics immediately prophesied that with "the next war" mankind will destroy itself.

Must there be a next war? It is a saddening fact, but nonetheless a truth, that man learns only "the hard way"—by bitter experience. Only after epidemic decimate the population does he promulgate and enforce public health laws; only after disastrous conflagration does he consider fire-safety regulations; only after unruly rivers have devastated the land for generations does he devise flood control measures.

But he does take these preventive steps—and therein lies the secret of man's progress toward safer living which makes him today the physical better of his forebears in every way.

So, though the pessimistic cynics may see, in modern weapons of war, only a means through which mankind ultimately will destroy itself, others, with more patience, look upon man's overall record with faith. They see him toiling painfully up through the centuries, ever making a safer life and a larger horizon, despite such temporary setbacks as the Dark Ages and the prehistoric recurring wars, each taking increasingly larger toll in ever more horrible ways. These men of faith know that as recently as the start of World War I, man saw war as a glamorous adventure. But they know that in the bloody muck of Flanders Fields and the trenches of France he learned a lesson. With long-range weapons, men killed other men whom they could not see. Death struck anonymously. Poison gas gave the coup de grace to the last illusion of martial glamor.

Man did learn the lesson from World War I. But he did not learn it well enough and on some, the lesson was entirely lost. These spiritual laggards again sought glory in war, as did their brutish ancestors. And the good men—the men who had learned the lesson of World War I—met them in combat. They fought, not in glamorous mood, but as strong men who face an ugly task and do not shrink it. And they won.

So once again was demonstrated the lesson that no one wins a war—some merely lose more than others. And those who have long-rang faith in mankind may hope that this war—the hardest of "the hard ways"—may be the last lesson man will need on this subject. They hope that the future's history books will not call it World War II—but refer to it as "The Last War."

CHIANG PLEDGES CONSTITUTIONAL DEMOCRACY

In the opinion of DeWitt MacKenzie, Associated Press foreign affairs analyst, there are some signs—which one notes with extreme caution—of progress in the Chungking peace-parley between the Chinese Communists and the Nationalist government of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

A communist spokesman in Chungking said yesterday that the talks were still in a "preliminary stage" that no agreement had yet been reached. However, any progress—no matter how small—is encouraging when we are dealing with the bloody quarrel which long has threatened to plunge China's millions into civil war.

The Generalissimo, yielded somewhat to his opponents, has issued a striking V-J Day message to the nation, declaring that now the Japanese war is over "we shall permit no further delay in the inauguration of constitutional democracy". He therefore proposes to summon the national assembly to get the reforms under way.

Chiang promises equal legal status to all political parties and says the government is prepared to consider an increase in the number of delegates to the assembly, this apparently permitting inclusion of Communist delegates for the first time. This would indeed be striding in seven-league boots, for thus far only one party—the Nationalist Kuomintang—has been permitted. The Communists and all others have been barred.

As the outlook for new cars grows better the "look out" for pedestrians grows more important.

WHAT IT MEANS

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON—Unchecked inflation sweeping over the Philippines has aroused U. S. government agencies and private business.

The Army discontinues supplying civilian relief needs to Filipinos Sept. 1.

Then the Foreign Economic Administration is prepared to offer a big helping hand through the Philippine Trade Advisory Board, representing U. S. business firms with prewar contacts in the Philippines.

Together government and business hope to move enough rehabilitation supplies into the islands to wreck the black marketeers who have made living costs in Manila increase eight times over the pre-war prices.

Private traders are counted upon to furnish the bulk of the goods needed, with FEA filling in the scarcest supplies through its subsidiary, the U. S. Commercial Company.

In combating the menace, the Commonwealth government has been severely handicapped by a lack of funds. Filipino officials are hoping FEA and PTA will start a flow of reconstruction goods, ranging from tractors to needles, which will steady the country's shaky economic structure.

Black Market Is Rife

One of the main problems will be Manila's super black market, the source of virtually every product sold in the Philippine capital, and operated on such an alarming scale that the Commerce Department recently said:

"Goods are sold quite openly in market stalls and in dingy stores established in the ruins of buildings at prices 5 to 10 or more times the official ceilings. Aside from the relatively small sales of food at government stores and commissaries, indeed, no goods are available at ceiling prices."

The Department's report cited the efforts of American government representatives to obtain a few kitchen items:

"Glasses of a type that sell in the United States for five cents could not be obtained for less than $3 each. A cup and saucer of the

by works progress aid, have been presented to authorities.

The question of a new municipal building was again brought before the borough council. A proposition to procure PWA help was suggested.

A COMMONPLACE BOOK

In one of G. K. Chesterton's most famous murder mysteries, logic demands that the corpse be inside the house. The doors and windows are locked. There is no means of egress, no way in which the murderer could have got the body out. But unhappily it is missing. No one has entered or departed. Father Brown solves the problem by observing that no one ever sees the mailman. He is universally overlooked because he is an integral part of the landscape. The witnesses who swore no one had entered or left had simply fallen into the universal human error of not seeing the gentleman in official blue who, it turns out, was the murderer and carried the body out in his capacious bag.

Warren has one mailman who could never be so easily overlooked. Here is one of his poems called "MOMENTS OF GRASS".

I shall lie down in deep peace on the moments of grass
And look up at the possible stars.
In a deep reverie from the moments of grass
I shall gaze on their glory afar.
I shall look up in awe at the probable stars
At bright promising wands of each ray,
But my eyes shall return to the possible stars
Which are probable stars far away.

I shall lie in deep peace on the moments of grass
And look at the hours of the trees
And the days of man's cities, and the years of the hills;
I shall watch in deep peace all of these.
From the moments of grass with all stars shining down
I shall look on the ages' great peaks
Which eternity's ice shall weather and wear
And where wisdom shall lose what it seeks.

I shall lie in deep peace on the moments of grass
And watch as the waters of life
Flow down to its seas and dissolve in the skies
And return to the great sea in strife;
Past the cities of man and all of his works
In the mountains, on plains, by the sea
While the comet of fate shall flash through the stars
And shine down with the stars upon me.

From the moments of grass in a maelstrom of light
I shall rise through the surfaceless sea
To the probable stars and the possible stars
And their mysteries shall unfold to me.
But all knowledge and wisdom shall turn to cold ash
As the flow of the ages shall pass
And I shall return to kind earth and lie down
In peace on the moments of grass.

The author is Datus Lynn Lacy. He is, as I have said, one of the indefatigable battalion that turns the bleak emptiness of our mail boxes sometimes into stuffed white promise. But he is not just a mailman (though I have often thought that no profession could be more suitable for the development of the very sorts of talent he possesses). He is a philosopher and jester, a homespun sociologist and humanitarian, a reader of many books, an enemy of injustice, an understanding student of human beings and their ways. Finally, he is surely Warren's most prolific and versatile poet.

I say "versatile" because what Datus can do with a stanza, or a brace of stanzas, is something truly remarkable. No matter how rigid the verse-form chosen, no matter how tight the pattern of meter and rhyme, he can prance and cavort his way to the end of a sometimes lengthy poem; and in the process create something that is interesting and often moving. He writes scores of poems each year. Sometimes one of his customer-friends along the mail route requests him to do a little poem for her son overseas. He obliges out of the goodness of his heart. He is an occasional poet of unparalleled resourcefulness. No matter what the occasion may be, a social gathering, a birthday, a memorial dinner, a Christmas celebration, Datus is usually ready with a few, or perhaps many, lines.

He has been kind enough to give me many of his poems to meet with Mrs. Springer at the club house, Wednesday, Sept. 5th, will be postponed until the following week.

Mrs. Ted Husted, who has been a guest for a few days of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Husted, left Friday for Pittsburgh, where after a short visit with relatives, she will return to Warm Springs, Ga.

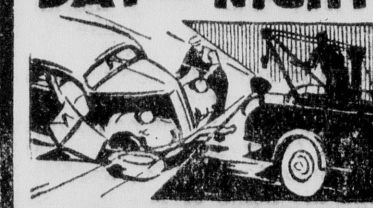

The polling place of Youngsville will be opened Saturday, Sept. 15, 10 a. m. to 3 p. m., and 7 p. m. to 10 p. m., for the registration of new voters and for change of addresses. This is important as Sept. 17th will be the last day for new registrations for those who want to vote in November.

Chapter 30

JANE came down into the airport, bewildered, and her bewilderment increased as they approached the capital. It seemed suddenly corpulent, overgrown, even rowdy. Eagerly she identified landmarks, reassured herself that this was a former home ground.

She spoke to the cab driver as they neared a spot where she'd once sat swinging her heels while her mother watched models parade. "Can you take my bags on to the hotel?"

Her family name was magic. They had exactly what Miss Grey would need; yes, they'd send everything to the hotel by messenger, immediately.

No sooner was she in her room than she was at the telephone.

The operator seemed forever reaching Mark Sheridan's office. When she did, an impatient voice assisted Mr. Sheridan was not in or would he be in before the following day.

She tried his club. He was not there. No, they could not say when or if he'd return that evening; was there any message?

From the club secretary, after identifying herself, Jane received the comforting news that Mr. Sheridan was dining at the New Rathmore that evening with his former secretary. "As you are his Western manager, Miss Grey, you doubtless know Miss Hansen."

The boxes had arrived from the lodist's while Jane was talking. He turned to eye them now. And to think of the money I've wasted—" Or had she? "But if I can tear her away from the mighty Mark, I'll take her off his hands and drop her some place. . . . Speaking of the angels—"

MARK and Carla were just entering the lounge. Jane found her hands making strange little feminine movements, smoothing the blouse with its adroitly set sequins. She took a hurried glance into a nearby mirror for reassurance.

They waited quietly until the other two repaired to the dining room; that is, Don waited quietly. Jane hadn't known she had so many nerves, all clamoring for action.

"Ready?" Don stood up and offered his arm, and slowly, taking their dignified time, they walked into the dining room and to their table, not too far from Mark Sheridan's.

"Don't look," whispered Don, "but our girl friend is about to be carried out on a stretcher. She has no pulse; she's drawn his attention to you. . . . Here he comes—"

Don looked up to see Mark Sheridan, having committed the unpardonable sin of leaving Carla alone, bearing down on their table.

"Why—why, Miss—Miss—"

"Good evening, Mark; haven't you two met before? This is Miss Grey."

Don thought Jane several times that evening, was being wasted in Washington. He should have been a field marshal. The other three merely responded to his direction.

Somehow he caught and held Carla Hansen's indignant attention away from the other two.

"I—" began Sheridan, when Don arose, Carl, with him. "Excuse us a moment," he asked. "There's something I want to show Miss Hansen."

They were barely out of the dining room when Sheridan arose abruptly. "Let's get out of this place. About as much privacy as in a fishbowl, and what I want to discuss—"

YMCA Will Resume Adult Bible Class

The Community Adult Bible Study Class of the Y. M. C. A. will be continued during the coming fall and winter season, with the instructor who was the key to the class's success last season: Rev. Arthur B. Fowler.

This was decided at a meeting of representatives of two groups: the Religious Emphasis Committee of the "Y", and the membership of last year's class. The class this coming season will be conducted in two semesters of ten sessions each. The first semester will open on Thursday, Oct. 4, and close on Dec. 13. The second period will be from January 17 to March 28.

All sessions will be held on Thursday evenings. In the first period, one weekly session will be omitted, the one which would fall on Thanksgiving Day. In the second semester, the session in the week of Preaching Mission will be omitted.

Those who participated in the class taught by Rev. Fowler from February to May in this year were greatly pleased and will be enthusiastic boosters for the class this coming fall and winter. All men and women of Warren and vicinity are eligible to attend, and there are no fees.

THE DAWN OF A NEW DAY ... Peace on Earth

Now that Japan has surrendered, the aggressor nations which sought to destroy our way of life, have been 'totally crushed—but not without much bloodshed and suffering by millions of Americans; together with our brave allies. Thousands of our youth have died that we may live in a peaceful, free, and democratic world.

But the rejoicing we feel in our hearts today cannot erase from our memory the suffering and heartaches which always accompany war. Let us resolve to ever dedicate ourselves to preserving the freedom that has been so dearly won. Greed and love of power must never again be permitted to plunge mankind into chaos and destruction.

Repairs Will Be Made To YMCA Pool

Since this is the last day of school vacation and the swimming pool is scheduled to close down tomorrow for repairs and improvements, the Y. M. C. A. has abandoned the regular schedule for Tuesday and made it possible for all groups to enjoy their last vacation dip in the refreshing water.

This afternoon there were swims for the girls, the Cadets, and the Juniors. Tonight the hour from 7 to 8 o'clock has been set aside for Older Boys, and from 8:15 to 9:30 for mixed swim. In the latter period, men and their wives, boys and girl friends, and parents and children may enjoy a refreshing swim.

Tomorrow the pool will be empty and will remain so until about Sept. 15. During the ten-day period the natatorium will undergo some repairs and painting, a good scrubbing, and a new official spring board will be installed. If not before, the pool is expected to be open for use again on the 17th.

The new "Y" Gym. floor is progressing nicely. All of the old flooring has been removed and the new concrete foundation has been completed, preparatory to the laying of asphalt tile. The latter job cannot be done, however, until the foundation concrete is completely dry and this drying is expected to take approximately three weeks.

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as lively as a youngster—Now her Backache is better
Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 8 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, and successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 16 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

DRAGONS DOWN EAGLES, 26-0; LOSE TO ACADEMY, 20-2

Three Squads Trample Y.H.S. Eleven; Fumbles and Aerial Interception Mark Erie Game

Warren High's Dragon gridders opened the 1945 football slate last weekend by trouncing Youngsville, 26-0, on Saturday, and receiving a 20-2 loss at the hands of a fast Erie Academy eleven on Labor Day Monday.

Three full squads trampled the Eagles Saturday at Russell Field with quarterback Louis Bonace pacing the attack with two touchdowns to his credit. Junior Dave Lopez started the scoring in the late part of the first stanza when he snatched an aerial from Bonace on the 20-yard line and raced across for the first score, the try for the extra point failing. The second tally came mid-way in the second when the Dragons took possession on the mid-stripe and, through a series of ground plays, marched all the way to the Eagle 1-yard line, from where Bonace plunged for the touchdown. Fullback Jimmy Scallise, who did a marvelous running job along with Bonace, plunged for the point, giving the Dragons a 13-0 edge.

The proteges of new coach Art Amann had only one serious threat. In the early part of the third, Randinelli intercepted a pass on the Eagle 26, setting the stage for an outstanding series of aerial plays which sent the losers all the way to the Warren 15, where they were stopped. With Lovison doing the heaving, the Youngsville boys recorded four straight complete heaves, putting them within fifteen yards of scoring. "Sig" Decker intercepted the fifth pass to halt the Eagle march.

Warren's third tally as recorded in the early minutes of the final stanza, when Tannier intercepted a pass on the Eagle 47. After two running plays, Bonace went twenty-three yards on a kick reverse and outstanding blocking to score, making it 19-0. Warren took possession again after a block kick and Jimmy Scallise went 25 yards around right and to put the piskin on the Eagles' 13. Shanshala scored on reverse to increase the lead to 26-0, and Scallise plunged for the point.

Erie Academy proved too much for the locals on Monday. Paced by the speedy groundwork of left allback Al Fracassi, the Lions ushered over three touchdowns, two Warren fumbles and one on pass interception.

The two eleven battled neck-and-neck in the opening stanza, then through Academy went as far as the Dragon one-yard line in the latter part. The local line it out all its strength to halt advance a few seconds before hasty-time. In the second quarter, however, Dave Lopez, who received a bad out over his right eye, fumbled and Erie recovered on Warren's 22. Fracassi raced around right end on the following play to score. Coyne plunged for the extra point.

Shortly afterwards, a bad center to Fracassi went over his head and five Dragon linemen smeared him behind the goal to give the locals their only two points on a safety. Erie scored twice in the fourth stanza. A second fumble by Lopez was recovered by the Lions on Warren's 28 and Bartelson heaved a pass to DeMarco, who went over for the second, touchdown. Late in the period, Fracassi intercepted Jim Scallise's heave on his own 10-yard line and raced ninety yards for the score, making it 19-2. Bartelson passed to DeMarco for the point.

The Dragons made one last effort to score in the late minutes of the quarter, but Academy's line bucked up and prevented the advance.

Next Saturday afternoon, the Dragons are hosts to Kane High School on Russell Field at 2:30.

A word of thanks in behalf of Warren High School and the general football public to The National Transit Company for erecting the new fagpole on the west side of Russell Field. All the materials and labor were furnished by the company through the courtesy of Roy Guignon. The field should also have a score board to further complete the grounds.

PONY League first division teams move into the Governor's Cup playoff tomorrow night, with first-place Batavia being host to fourth-place Batavia and second-place Jantown entertaining Lockport. The two winners will meet to decide the 1945 PONY League championship.

Sam Schettino, who acted as one of the officials at the Dragon Academy game yesterday, is also a basketball whistle-tooter. About five or six years ago, in the Warren-Brookville District Nine playoff game, Schettino called a foul in the last forty seconds of play which sank the Dragon hopes. The score was tied at 18 apiece with less than a minute to go and Cliff Graham was called for charging, Brookville making the foul and winning the game. But you can't blame the ref for such happenings. Schettino will handle several Warren court games this year and is heralded throughout Jefferson county as a first-rate official. His running mate, Clyde Moore, also participating in the Labor Day game, will be remembered as former coach at Youngsville High.

Heinick, who engaged in a stiff pitchers' duel yesterday at Wilder Field with Hines, is a former star of the old New York-Penn League, and Rosintski, Wellsville's second sacker, played for the National Forge somewhere along 1923. Rosintski went to the St. Louis Cards but eventually talked himself out of a sparkling diamond career.

Ex-light eight champ Sammy Angott served notice today that he is out to regain his old title and add the welterweight crown, too. The Washington, Pa., boxer is training in Pittsburgh for his September 18 bout with Ike Williams. And he insists that his broken hand which has twice necessitated his retirement is all right. It seems that we've heard that story before.

Byron Nelson, the umbrella man from Toledo, suffered one of his few setbacks yesterday in the Nashville Open at Richmond's tight greens. His successor was none other than Ben Hogan, the ex-air force lieutenant, who says that Nelson won't have things as easy as during the war.

Lopez Equals 20-Game Mark Of Hartnett

BY ELAINE KAHN
Pittsburgh, Sept. 4.—(P)—Quiet, mild-mannered Aphonso Lopez squatted behind the bat and caught his 1,793rd game—thereby equalling the 20-year record set by Gabby Hartnett.

The Pittsburgh Pirate backstop, who tied the mark yesterday, telescoped his record into 17 big league seasons. Now 37, he figures he still has several years of good baseball in him and is likely to set a mark that will stand for quite a while.

He needs to play in only 21 more games this season to tie the market set by Bill Dickey of the Yankees of catching 100 or more games in each of 13 seasons.

"I never bothered much with records," said the affable senior. "If I did, I would have broken them long ago. One year I stopped at 99 games and another at 95."

Somewhat the handsome Spaniard is rarely mentioned when great catchers are discussed, a neglect perhaps due to his biggest disappointment—he has never played with a pennant winner.

Pirate President Bill Benswanger feels this could have been corrected had Boston been willing to part with Lopez earlier.

"We tried to get him for four and a half years," Benswanger said. "If we had, we would have won the pennant in 1938. Al is definitely one of the greatest catchers in the game."

Lopez finally came to Pittsburgh in 1940, after four years with the Braves. Prior to that he spent six seasons with Brooklyn.

Forgers Down Wellsville In Season Finale

Irvine's National Forge baseballers officially ended the 1945 baseball season yesterday afternoon at Wilder Field, collecting a 3-1 victory over Wellsville as part of the NFO Shop Picnic.

Dick Hines and Heinick experienced a brilliant mound duel, only nine hits made and Hines fanning six and his opponent three. Dick Geigerich scored the initial run in the first inning after he beat out a bunt down the third base line and scooted to second on a bad throw. Nick Creola came up with a line two-sacker into centerfield to score the runner.

From then until the eighth inning, both teams were held scoreless. Dick Geigerich started everything off again in the 8th, going to first on an error and to second on Creola's sacrifice. Pitcher Heinick threw wild to advance both runners. Geigerich stole home, followed by Creola on Fred Gagliardi's sharp single into left field.

Wellsville's only scoring came in the ninth with one out. Philipson singled, and went all the way home on Rosintski's double into centerfield. Nick Creola saved the day in the inning when he grabbed a long fly out into left field one-handed.

Next Sunday, a combination of Forge and independent players, along with Fracassi of Kane and PONY Leaguer Craig Bennett, will invade Titusville.

Fans To Fete Honus Wagner Tomorrow Nite at Pittsburgh

Baseball fans of Western Pennsylvania and the Tri-State District are all set for a huge and enthusiastic turnout at Forbes Field in Pittsburgh next Wednesday night, September 5, in honor of the immortal Honus Wagner, with a National League championship game between the Pirates and the colorful Brooklyn Dodgers at the centerpiece as the setting.

Individuals, civic bodies, other organizations and entire communities have been working hard unitedly to make the occasion a night to be remembered in the life of this greatest of all history's baseball stars, and indications are strong that it will be the greatest tribute ever paid to any ball player. All parts of the Tri-State region will be represented in the throng paying homage to the famous "Flying Dutchman".

It is appropriate that "Wagner Night" should promise to be a record-breaker in the history of such baseball occasions, because Honus himself was such a record-breaker and almost incredibly brilliant performer that many good judges pronounce him to have been the greatest player that ever lived.

ACCUSED

I've been accused of being a "Yes Man" . . . and come to think of it—I am! That is, I like to say "Yes" when people ask for a loan. Which is only logical, after all, for the more times I say "Yes" the more loans I make. And since making Personal Loans is my full-time business, that's mighty important to me.

"Usually I can say "Yes" in a hurry. But even when circumstances are unusual, I try to find a way to work out a deal. That's why Personal is so often able to make loans that others cannot.

"Of course—once in a while I can't find a way. That's natural. When that happens, I personally sit down with the customer in a private office and discuss the situation frankly, on a common sense basis.

Like most people, I don't believe in unnecessary borrowing . . . but when a loan is needed or to your advantage, I'll be glad to say "Yes". Anytime you need extra cash—see me, won't you? Right now, for instance. See me at Personal Finance Co., 216 Liberty St., second floor, over Lester Shoe Store. Phone 285.

Lopez, who quit school at 16 to play in the minors, says he wants to continue in baseball, maybe as a manager.

Because of sugar rationing, etc., it has been deemed advisable to lower the requirements which constitute an exhibit such as one fourth cake, one fourth pie, one half loaf of bread and one half pound of candy.

Ray C. Bull, chairman of the rabbit show has reported he expects exhibits this year will be far greater than before as exhibitors will come from Corry, Union City and Erie.

Remember you have until 9:00 o'clock p. m. on Thursday to place your exhibits.

As usual there will be many concessions this year and as gasoline rationing is now lifted the Youngsville Community Fair will offer three evenings of educational entertainment.

Since the loss of far Eastern sources of supply of tin, Bolivia has filled up to three-fourths of the tin needs of the United States.

held its first session under foreign surveillance. Emperor Hirohito attended the brief meeting in the house of peers. He was away from the imperial palace only from 10:40 a. m. (9:40 p. m. Monday, Eastern War Time) until 11:15 a. m. There was no immediate mention of what occurred.

American correspondents were to be permitted to attend tomorrow's diet meeting after General MacArthur's headquarters upheld their protest against being searched at the door. Unsigned, unaddressed invitations delivered at the public relations office by Japanese said the correspondents would be searched and could neither drink nor smoke during the meeting.

MacArthur abolished all these restrictions. The Japanese communiques, which have been announcing occupation schedules ahead of MacArthur's headquarters (but presumably with his permission) reported 15,460 occupation troops would enter a number of points in the Kanagawa and Shizuoka prefectures—west and south of Tokyo—preceding occupation of the capital.

It listed the cities to be occupied as Horatsuka and Oiso, 6,500 troops; Odawara, 2,250; Gotemba, 720; Hatano, 1,020; Utsunohara, 1,020, and 3,350 in Hachioji city, the metropolitan district of Tokyo. Radio Tokyo also reported 20,000 American troops were landing today at the Tachikawa army air base, northwest of Tokyo. They will set up headquarters at Tokyo University of Commerce at nearby Yabo village and will extend their occupancy into other towns in the area.

Troops of Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger's Eighth Army already had crossed the Tama river, Tokyo's south boundary, but were careful not to enter the main city before receiving his signal.

The Japanese officers complimented the Americans on their smartly executed amphibious landing, which 1,600 armed Japanese troops witnessed.

In Philippines With the Seabees

Ernest James Wilcox, storekeeper, second class, of Route 2, Warren, is a member of the naval construction battalion attached to Service Force, Pacific Fleet, which was engaged in building a huge staging area for U. S. military forces in the Philippines when news of Japan's surrender was received.

This battalion landed with invasion forces and fought its way through Jap snipers and mortar fire for its share in the successful Philippine conquest. The unit was on its second Pacific tour of duty when hostilities ceased. During the first 21 months overseas, the battalion personnel built a large supply and repair base on Midway Island, and an airfield and base in Hawaii, which remains one of the world's largest and most widely used air terminals. The second oldest organized Seabee construction battalion in the navy, this unit is in its fourth year of service.

But the house military committee, shouting for an end to the draft, some of whose members were only a few weeks ago, has just agreed to do nothing about it for the time being.

Committee members are not inclined to extend the draft in any event beyond next May 15.

Thus far there has been no sign of a bonus drive for service men, but congressional leaders are keeping their fingers crossed.

CRUDE PRODUCTION SHOWS DROP IN WEEK

Tulsa, Okla., Sept. 4—(P)—Daily average crude oil production for the week ending September 1 dropped 16,750 barrels from the total for the previous period to 4,872,050. The Oil and Gas Journal reported today.

California slumped 30,750 barrels to 884,750, while Kansas rose 5,500 barrels to 272,050 and Oklahoma came up 1,100 to 390,100.

Illinois production climbed 1,800 barrels to 200,000, and the Rocky Mountain area of Colorado, Montana and Wyoming inched up 350 barrels to 143,100.

Bronze Stars Posthumously Awarded Here

The Bronze Star Medal has been awarded posthumously to two Warren families, whose sons both died in action. The medals were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Rapp, 116 Pennsylvania avenue, west, the parents of Pfc. Raymond D. Rapp, and to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hooven, 101 College street, Youngsville, parents of Pfc. Milton K. Hooven.

The award was made to the parents of Pfc. Rapp for "heroic achievement in action on May 29, 1944. Private First Class Rapp crawled through heavy hostile fire in an attempt to procure mortar ammunition for an attack on enemy positions. He was killed before he could complete his mission, but his courageous conduct reflects credit on the Army of the United States."

The medal presented to Mr. and Mrs. Hooven cited Pfc. Milton Hooven "for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against the enemy on 9 January, 1945. Pfc. Hooven was a radio operator with the forward observer party assigned to the 290th Infantry when 88 mm fire came into their position causing many treebursts in the densely wooded area. With unflinching devotion to duty and complete disregard for personal danger he left a place of comparative safety and set up his radio for operation in an attempt to contact his liaison officer. As he stuck valiantly to his radio, enemy mortar and 88 mm fire bursting in a nearby tree took his life. This display of devotion to duty beyond the requirements of his assignment reflects great credit upon himself and his organization."

Pvt. Charles Stephens has notified his wife, who resides at 601 W. Fifth avenue, of the safe arrival in Manila in the Philippine Islands.

IS ADVANCED
Robert E. Abraham, Youngsville, now serving aboard the USS Solace, navy hospital ship, in the Pacific, has been advanced to yeoman, second class. His wife, Janice, lives in Youngsville.

MEET IN PACIFIC
Word has been received from Herbert G. Stanton, CM 1/c, stationed somewhere in the Pacific, that he recently met and spent a few days leave with his son, Gerald E. Stanton, coxswain, on the island on which the latter is stationed in the Pacific. Another son, Ralph E. Stanton, recently returned from twenty-one months in England and is at present stationed in Washington, D. C. A third son, Eugene O. Stanton, 31/c is now on Guam.

ed. That he was at least the greatest shortstop ever to stand on spikes is admitted by every man in baseball.

Wagner's right to such lofty ranking is borne out by the amazing figures he left behind. Some of the National League records set by him and still standing are: Led the league in batting eight times; hit 300 seventeen times, and consecutively, into the bargain; played most games, 2,785; made most base-hits, 3,430; made most singles, 2,431; made most doubles, 648; made most triples, 250; led league in doubles most times, eight years; led league in doubles most consecutive times, four years; most times at bat, 10,427; played in 100 or more games 19 years in succession.

In his major league career from 1897 through 1917, Honus placed many other remarkable feats to his credit. He led the league speedboys in stolen bases five times; in run-scoring twice; in triples twice; in runs knocked in twice. He stole six bases in the World Series of 1909, a Series record equaled only by Shorty Slagle, of the Cubs, during his career he played in every position on the field, and adding rare durability to his incomparable prowess, he was still playing major league ball, and in the infield at that, when he was 43 years old.

There will be "various features of entertainment for the fans before the start of the Pirate-Dodger game at 8:30 o'clock. Among the gifts to Wagner, the Pittsburgh Club, it is disclosed by President Durability to his incomparable over to Honus all its size of the receipts above the intake of a average game. Many fans from Steubenville, O., and Warren, Pa., where Wagner made his professional start in the early '90s, will be among those present.

THE STORY OF THE ATOM

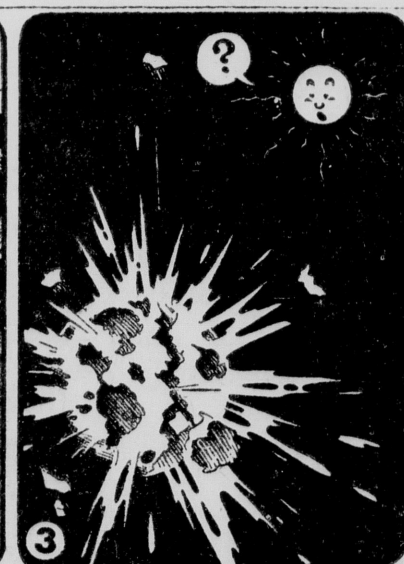

No. 1: The Atomic World Is Born

(1) Before August 5, 1945, most people who had heard about the great energy stored in atoms thought the idea the merest theory. But on that date, the vast power of the atom was demonstrated. An atomic bomb, the explosive content of which weighed only a few pounds, was dropped on the Japanese base city Hiroshima, from an American plane. The army base was blown into a cloud of smoke, dust and rubble, rising 40,000 feet.

(2) People the world over were aghast as scientists estimated the power of the atomic bomb. The power in one pound of explosive was equivalent to 15,000 tons of TNT, enough to fill four trains of 75 cars. The atoms in the bomb contained a potential power equivalent to that produced by nearly all the hydro-electric plants in the United States, running for one hour, or approximately 10,000,000 kilowatt hours.

(3) People realized at once that the atomic bomb could be a great source of evil. A small enemy plane, stealing through the overcast with a few pounds of bombs, could wipe out such great cities as New York or Chicago. A few tons could submerge such an island as Japan. A heavy enough bomb might cause an earthquake or some other great world-wide disaster.

(4) Other people, more hopeful and optimistic, saw the force inside the atom becoming a great power for good. Under proper control, it could unshackle man forever from the chains of hard labor. A pound could drive a great liner many times across the world's oceans. Just a few grams would keep an automobile running the entire life of the car. Less than a gram could easily send an airplane around the world without stopping to refuel.

PEERS CALL FOR A UNITED JAP NATION

Hirohito Opens Parliamentary Session Urging People To Surmount Manifold Hardships

WAR IS "TERMINATED"

By RUSSELL BRINES
Tokyo, Sept. 4—(P)—Emperor Hirohito urged the Japanese people to "win the confidence of the world" and commanded them to obey the nation's commitments in an imperial rescript opening the 88th extraordinary session of the diet today.

The emperor personally opened the two-day parliamentary session by reading the sober, comprehensive rescripts to a plenary gathering in the ornate house of peers.

It was the emperor's first public appearance since he startled the nation with his surrender announcement of August 15.

San Francisco, Sept. 4—(P)—The Japanese house of peers this afternoon resolved "to acknowledge the reality of our defeat" and "to cut a way out of the present situation and embark upon a new course of national rebuilding."

Emperor Hirohito himself opened the parliamentary session this morning, calling for the Japanese to "surmount the manifold hardships and trials attending termination of the war, make manifest the innate glory of Japan national policy, win the confidence of the world," and "devote ourselves to reconstruction in every field."

The resolution adopted later by the house of peers expressed determination to rebuild the nation "with a view to safeguarding the aged national structure and contributing to world peace, in order that his majesty's mind may be put at rest."

Hirohito had terminated the war, the resolution said, "in profound consideration of the welfare of his subjects."

The emperor, who appeared briefly in person at the opening session, did not once use the word "surrender" in the imperial rescript as broadcast by the Domei Agency, but merely referred to termination of the war and "cessation of hostilities."

He said he had directed the ministers of state to "explain the foreign and domestic conditions and the course of events that have led to the extraordinary measure."

All Japanese were called upon to "unite in service to the state with greater zeal than ever."

The lower house immediately adopted a reply expressing "appreciation of the efforts exerted by officers and men of the imperial forces as well as endeavors on the home front."

The opening session lasted only 25 minutes, but included a report on commerce and industry which said that Japanese aircraft production hit a peak of 2,857 per month in June, 1944, and dropped to 1,003 last July, according to the Domei broadcasts recorded by the Federal Communications Commission.

Domei also reported that General MacArthur had ordered the Tokyo radio to suspend immediately all foreign language broadcasts, confining itself to the Japanese language. The report on this order was broadcast in English, however.

A diet members, 88-year-old Yukio Ozaki, speaking before the session opened, was quoted by Domei as declaring that "a complete overhauling of education is necessary to pour into the people's heads the laws of humanity—the difference between right and wrong."

Plan Surrender of Japs in China Area

Chungking, Sept. 4—(P)—Troops of the American-trained and American-equipped Chinese sixth army, which helped drive the Japanese from North Burma, will fly to Nanking today for the formal surrender of Japanese forces in the China theater scheduled for Thursday, the high command announced.

The movement was scheduled to start several days ago, but was held up by bad weather.

The high command reported the junction of forces under Gen. Yen Hsi-Shan from Shansi province and Gen. Fu Tso-Yi from the inner Mongolian province of Suifu at Tatung in northern Shansi.

Jackson Run Man is Killed On Crossing

Bert D. Hinsdale, who resides on Warren RD 2, on the Jackson Run road, was instantly killed this afternoon shortly after one o'clock when a Chevrolet car he was driving was struck and demolished on Scott crossing of the Erie railroad, in Columbus township about two miles east of the Corry line, according to word received by Coroner Ed Lowrey early this afternoon.

According to meagre information received Mr. Hinsdale left this morning apparently to attend a sale at the Bert Stockton farm in Columbus township. It was while crossing the tracks near Columbus that the coupe was struck by Erie passenger train No. 7, westbound.

The body was removed to the Bracken & Keating funeral home in Corry and will be taken later today to the Schoonover funeral home in Sugar Grove. More complete obituary and funeral announcement will be made later.

Jimmy Stewart Is Anxious To Get Back to Movie Studios

Indiana, Pa., Sept. 4—(P)—Lean, Lanky Jimmy Stewart, home from the wars, is anxious to get back to Hollywood and the business of making movies—but he's like his next picture to be a comedy.

"The public has had enough war movies," the Air Corps and screen hero declared. "They don't need any more to remind them 'not to forget.'"

"Besides," he explained, "I think it will take three or four years for people to write good stories about the war. They need time to get a good representative."

Col. Stewart came home yesterday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Stewart, who had gone to New York to meet him. A bit gray after four and a half years in the army, and a little thinner, he spent the day lolling

Five-Point "Must" Program Is On Tap for Peace Congress

Washington, Sept. 4—(P)—President Truman has drafted a comprehensive message for delivery to congress this week, the White House said today, and later will submit his views on disposition of the atomic bomb in a separate communication.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters he would announce final plans tomorrow, after a conference between the president and congressional leaders.

Ross said he would not be able to say until then whether the messages will be sent to Capitol Hill or delivered by the president in person, or what day they will be presented.

Ross recalled that some time ago Mr. Truman said he would recommend to congress the creation of a commission to decide what to do about the atomic bomb.

Soon after the first peacetime congress in almost four years meets tomorrow it will receive what Ross described as "quite a comprehensive message" from Mr. Truman. The president completed it yesterday during a holiday cruise on the Potomac river aboard the presidential yacht Potomac.

The reassembling legislators will form the "reconversion congress" as distinguished from the war congresses that have been in almost continuous session since 1941.

Facing the lawmakers returning from vacations cut short by war's end will be five administration-tagged "must" proposals dealing with:

1. Jobs for everyone willing and able to work. Congressional committees have been grappling with this one—the so-called "full employment bill"—for some time.

2. Unemployment compensation. Senate and house committees are working on proposals to pay as much as $25 weekly for 26 weeks to workers unable to find jobs.

3. Surplus property disposal. A bill to substitute a single administrator for the three-man board now in charge of getting rid of war-born surpluses will be ready for house action next week.

4. Reorganization of executive agencies. Mr. Truman wants authority to abolish or merge many agencies. Committee sentiment (Turn to Page Nine)

More Changes In Military Posts Hinted

Washington, Sept. 4—(P)—Japan's formal surrender has cleared the way for more changes in the Truman administration, including a possible reorganization of the military high command.

Gen. Geo. C. Marshall, 64, who passed up an opportunity to retire nearly two years ago, may step down within months, possibly to be succeeded as chief of staff by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, who will be 78 September 21, also is said to be considering retirement to make way for a younger man.

Meanwhile, President Truman soon will send to congress his selection for federal loan administrator and the supreme court vacancy created by the retirement of Justice Owen J. Roberts.

The months ahead also may see the retirement of Admiral Ernest J. King, 66-year-old chief of naval operations, thus opening the way for the promotion of someone like Admiral Chester W. Nimitz or Admiral William F. Halsey

TWO JURORS SELECTED TO HEAR TRIAL

Work of Securing Panel To Try Youngsville Woman On Homicide Charge Proceeds Slowly

DEFENDANT IS CALM

Gowned in a form fitting black dress which well set off her slightly rouged cheeks and her golden blonde hair which fell in ringlets about her face and neck Mrs. Adaline McKinney stood between her attorneys this morning and in a clear voice answered "I plead not guilty."

Her plea was entered following the reading of the indictment by Clerk of Courts Addison White which set forth that the comely young woman had shot and killed her husband Wendell McKinney, of Youngsville July 16 at her pretty cozy home, Mrs. McKinney this morning seemed calm and much of the nervousness that was apparent at her arraignment and hearing seemingly had disappeared. Her form was erect and her eyes clear and her voice was steady.

Judge Allison Wade, who is presiding, at one time had to caution the 100 or more women and a handful of men in the court against any demonstrations and threatened to have any removed who interfered with the decorum of the court.

The work of calling a jury to hear the case was taken up immediately after the case was called. The roll of jurors was heard and then all prospective jurors were removed to the small court room and are summoned only when called into the trial court.

The first juror called was Mrs. Blanche Borchers, a widow of Warren. She stated that she had read some of the case but had formed no opinion which would prevent her from forming a verdict in accord with the evidence and the law. She was seated as Juror No. 1.

Mrs. Viola Rutnam, Russell housewife, was seated as Juror No. 2 after she had stated that she had read of the case but had formed no opinion.

Martin Urges Tax Reduction By Congress

Hershey, Sept. 4—(P)—A 20 per cent reduction by congress of federal income taxes was urged by Governor Edward Martin today as the "shot-the-arm so desperately needed by lagging reconversion."

The Pennsylvania Republican executive, addressing a conference of the 18 G. O. P. congressmen from the Keystone state, also called for a decrease in expenditures, including a cut of federal employees, as a start toward balancing the federal budget.

A twenty-per cent income tax reduction, coupled with corresponding reductions in various corporate taxes," Martin told the Republican congressmen, "would prove the greatest incentive to expanding industrial and commercial activity which our nation could enjoy."

He called for "a pledge by a majority of congress, made soon after you reconvene, that such a realistic tax program will be made effective before March 15th."

Expenditures, the governor said, should be reduced "far enough before revenues to permit us to pay the interest on the debt and start retiring it."

Fish Commissioner Buller Succumbs

Harrisburg, Sept. 4—(P)—Nathan R. Buller, Pennsylvania fish commissioner under five governors, and a noted conservationist, died at his home here last night. He would have been 85 on December 1.

Buller, who raised millions of fish during 55 years as a fish culturist, was a pioneer builder of fish hatcheries and led the fight a score of years ago for licensed fishing in the Keystone state.

"I worked ten years for that," he declared in later years. "There was opposition at first but fishermen realized it was a good thing."

Buller won note as a conservationist in working with officials of the Dominion of Canada and the state of Ohio in preservation of Lake Erie fisheries with result the Lake Erie fish supply increased despite heavy annual catches

By GLENN WILLIAMS

London, Sept. 4—(P)—Prime Minister Attlee last night pinned the blame for the six years of war upon failure to deal sternly with Japanese aggression 14 years ago, and declared victory will have been in vain unless all are ready to shoulder "the heavy responsibility that our victory entails."

"It will be our task in closest association with other nations to seek to establish a world order in which war shall everywhere be banished," he told the British people in a speech marking the sixth anniversary of Britain's entry into World War 2.

Attlee announced that Britain's sole endeavor in Europe now would be "to enable the will of the people to prevail and to assist in the establishment everywhere of governments resting on popular consent."

The prime minister outlined British forces with as much speed as possible, warned that British troops would be needed in far places for occupation duties for some time to come; estimated that in order to bring British production back to pre-war levels, "we require an increase of about 5,000,000 workers."

The chain of events which led to the greatest war in history Attlee traced to Japanese invasion of Manchuria in 1931.

Failure to deal with this first breach of the peace destroyed the authority of the League of Nations," he asserted.

The world should have learned from the first World War, he said, that "peace is indivisible and that it can only be preserved by the resolute maintenance of the rule of law all over the world."

DOUBLE MURDER AND SUICIDE IS PROBED

Wilkes-Barre, Sept. 4—(P)—An investigation into what police termed a double murder and suicide was at an impasse today for lack of witnesses.

The bodies of Ubaldo Marinelli, 49; his wife, Enrica, 47, and Marinelli's partner in a grocery firm, Settino Reganani, 55, were discovered in a blood splattered room at Marinelli's home yesterday.

A post mortem examination by Dr. W. L. Lanyon disclosed that the Marinelli couple died as a result of bullet wounds and many stabs and slashes, apparently inflicted by a razor.

Reganani, Dr. Lanyon reported, probably died of carbon monoxide fumes from illuminating gas.

OLD PRINTER DIES

New York, Sept. 4—(P)—Charles M. Carroll, 77, assistant night foreman of the New York Herald Tribune composing room and a compositor for nearly 60 years, died yesterday in Jewish hospital. Born in Media, Pa., he was one of the first printers to operate a Linotype machine, and rated one of the fastest. He joined the New York Tribune in 1902.

352 Deaths Counted Over The Holiday

By the Associated Press

America's first peacetime holiday since 1941 brought tragedy as well as celebration. At least 352 deaths were reported as Labor Day observance came to an end.

The accidental death toll jumped this year from 245 for Labor Day weekend 1944, but still was considerably lower than 626 toll for Labor Day, 1941, before Pearl Harbor.

Automobile accidents accounted for much of the increase over last year's toll. At least 104 persons were killed traffic. There were 58 drownings and 90 fatalities from miscellaneous causes.

Illinois reported the highest state toll with 56 deaths—18 from traffic accidents, five from drownings and 13 from miscellaneous accidents.

Pennsylvania's Labor Day holiday was marked by at least eight traffic fatalities and two drownings

M'ARTHUR GIVES HIS ARMIES AUTHORITY TO REQUISITION SUPPLIES AS GRIP EXPANDS

Japs Are Instructed to Turn All Existing Prisoner of War Camps Over to Highest Ranking Officer Interned in Each

ENTRY SCHEDULED THURSDAY NIGHT, U. S. TIME

By The Associated Press

Yokohama, Sept. 4—New landings today expanded the American occupation forces' powerful grip on the Tokyo area, and General MacArthur, in a general order, gave his armies authority to requisition anything they need in Japan.

First occupation of Tokyo itself, scheduled for Friday, is to be outlined in detail at a meeting of the Japanese First Army Command with Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, American Eighth Army commander, at Yokohama Wednesday.

MacArthur instructed the Japanese to turn all existing prisoner of war camps over to the highest ranking officer interned in each, and gave him authority to demand of the Japanese whatever food and medical care is necessary for his camp.

The initial Tokyo occupation force will number only 3,350, said the Japanese government, commencing the entry was scheduled Friday, (Thursday night, U. S. time).

The communistic said policemen would be detailed to maintain law and order in all areas of occupation; government organs and public organizations would continue to function as usual, and all negotiations between American forces and Japanese authorities would be conducted by liaison officials.

Proceeding the occupation of Tokyo, General MacArthur's troops were to half-encircle the capital with new landings today, while 120 miles southwest naval forces landed at Hamamatsu and other landings were being made at Takuso, port city of Kyushu island, 600 miles southwest of Tokyo, and at Kanoya airfield, also on Kyushu.

Hamamatsu was shelled by the American and British fleets on July 30. Kanoya airfield was the base from which the Japanese launched their heavy, costly Kamikaze suicide raids against American forces on Okinawa.

Led by minesweepers, two destroyers and six small troopships steamed without incident into Kagoshima bay to land their forces at Takuso's beaches.

Associated Press Correspondent Robin Cross, aboard Jensen's flagship, radioed that American planes already were landing at Kanoya.

By nightfall, nearly 100,000 Americans were scheduled to be on Japanese soil—with four times that many due to be landed during the month for a total of a half-million.

Meanwhile, the Imperial diet (Turn to Page Nine)

Warren Man Freed From Prison Camp

Word is received here today that Pvt. Leon W. Campbell, brother of Mrs. D. A. Sealie, was listed among American prisoners liberated at Camp Hoten at Mukden, Manchuria, on August 26.

A telegram from the War Department has advised his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Campbell, of Pleasantville, that further information will be given them as the department is advised.

Pvt. Campbell has been in service since February, 1941, and was sent to the Philippines from Fort Knox, Ky., in late summer of that year. He was captured at Bataan and remained a prisoner in the islands until two years ago.

The family then received word from the Japanese through the Red Cross that he had been transferred to Manchuria and placed in Camp Hoten prison. His family has had no direct word from him since his capture.

In its telegram, the War Department granted the family permission to send a 25-word cablegram to him, also a 200-word letter which the Red Cross will deliver to him when he arrives in Manila.

Superintendent Urges Young People to Return to School

Interviewed at the high school this morning on the reopening of borough schools on Wednesday, Superintendent John G. Rossman expressed the opinion that many young people of this community are standing at a very important crossroads today and their decision concerning continuation of their education will be one that will effect the remainder of their lives.

Some of the young people, he explained, are students who dropped out of school in the past year and some are those who have had full-time employment for the first time during the wartime emergency.

"It is a great temptation," he continued, "to go on with that work instead of returning to a classroom. But the great danger lies in the fact that if they do not return now, their high schooling never will be finished."

Concluding, he asked these future citizens to give very serious thought to this problem and make an urgent plea for parents and employers to advise with them concerning this important step

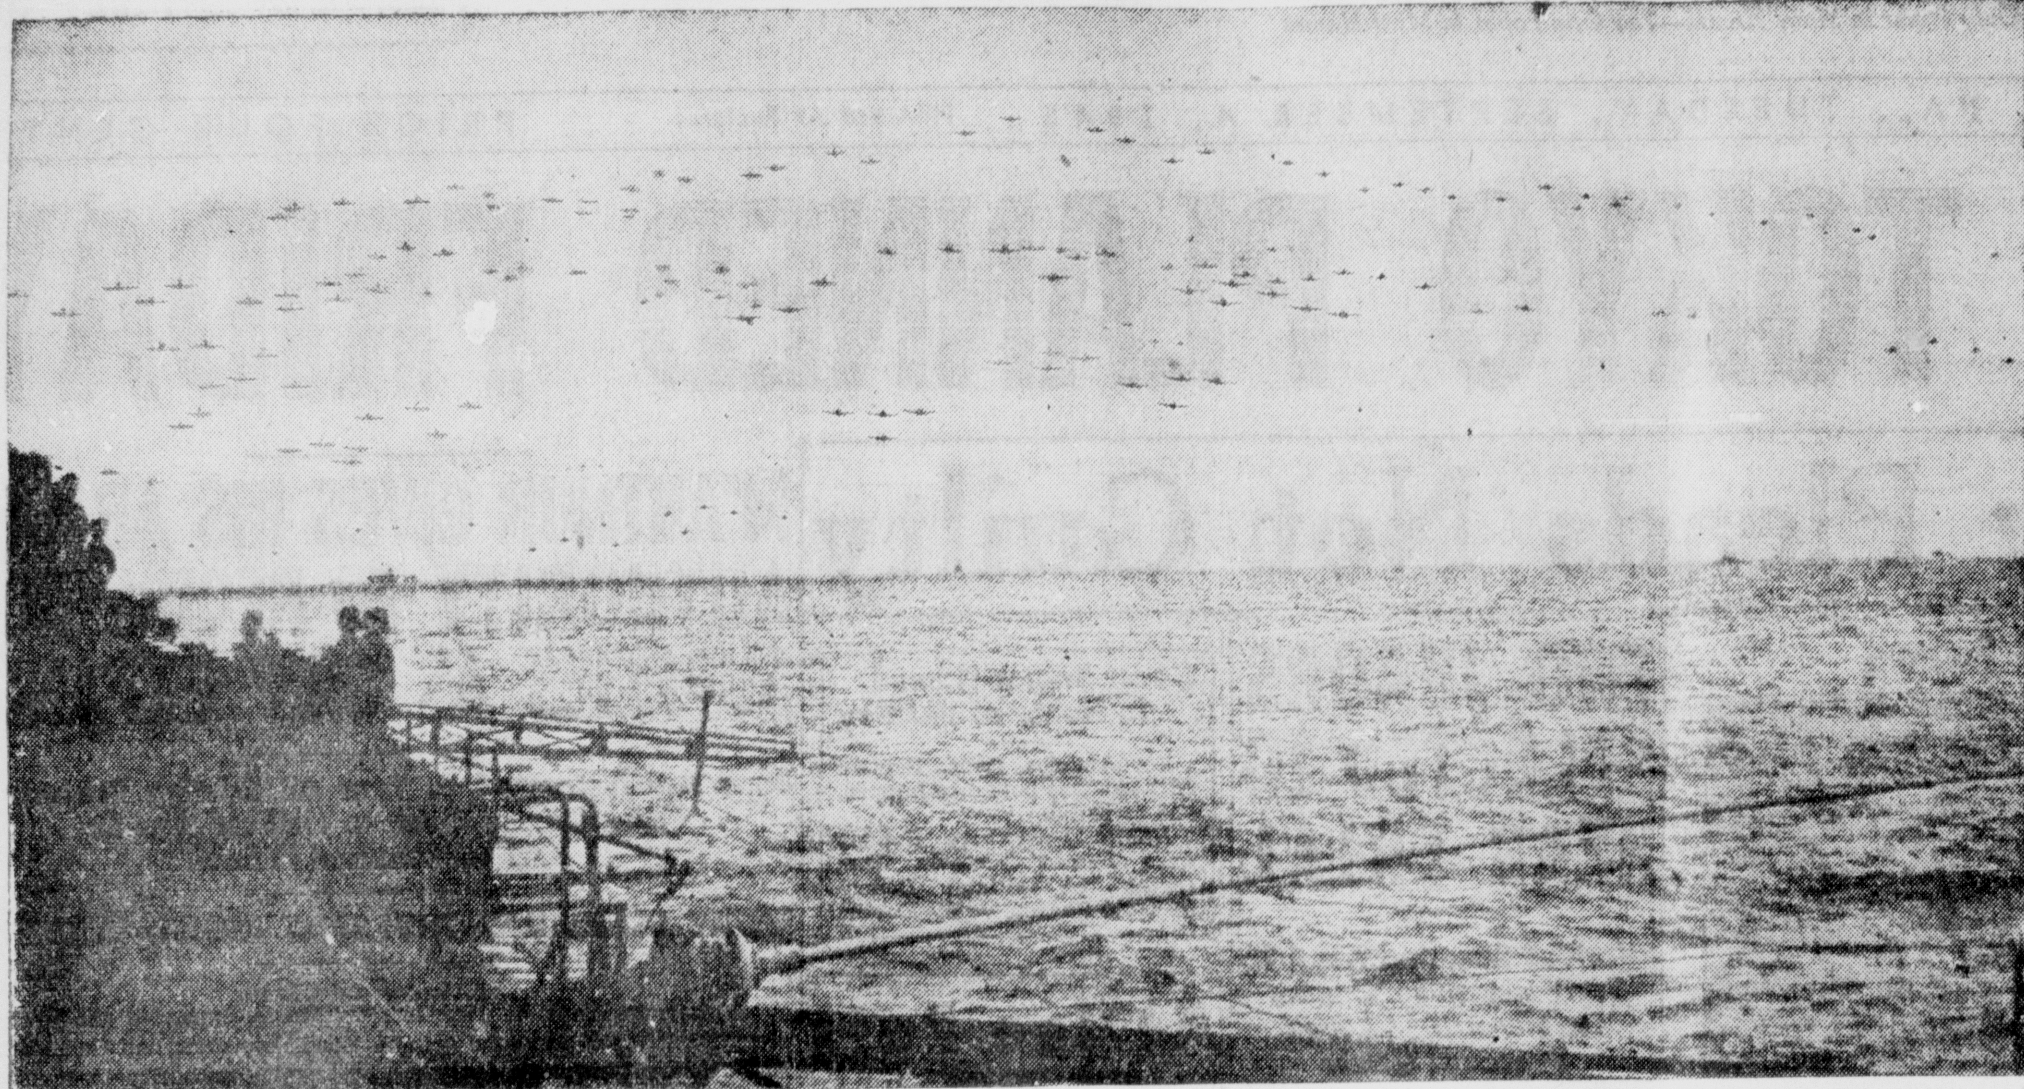

Death Crash Near Bradford Probed

Bradford, Sept. 3—(P)—County authorities were investigating the death of Andrew Verost, a construction foreman, whose car lunged off a bridge into the Allegheny river near Port Allegany today.

Verost was last seen by friends he reported he planned to drive a drive to Niagara Falls to spend Labor Day with his family.

The man was employed by the Ross Steel Erection Company of Niagara Falls, N. Y., and was doing contract work at the Pittsburgh-Corning Glass Corp. plant at Port Allegany.

a protection umbrella as U. S. warships neared Japan last Aug. 23. The Yanks were taking no chances with possible treachery. The planes in the air represented only a portion of the strength the carriers could have hurled against any enemy.

Reports Say War Prisoner Camps to Go October First

Reports are current that the war prisoner camps in this section will be closed about October 1st, and the hundreds of prisoners quartered there will be sent home. There are three camps in this section, one at Bull Hill, near Sheffield; one at Red Bridge, near Kinzua and the other at Duhring, Forest county. In all there are about 500 German prisoners of war in the three camps.

The men have been engaged in the cutting of pulp wood and also wood for the manufacture of roofing materials. They were rather an arrogant lot when brought to the camps but since Germany crashed in defeat they have been working with better results than they did in the past. The location of the camps in the vicinity has aided business as supplies were purchased from local bakeries, stores and other places. The big trucks from the camp have been familiar sights on the Warren streets. Guards from the camp have also been frequenters of the city and have made many friends here.

Just what disposition will be made of the camps when they are vacated is not known. With the rush of men of the U. S. Forces to this side of the Atlantic there will soon be plenty of shipping available to send the Germans home.

Holiday Quiet With Business Practically Suspended

Labor Day 1945 was one of the most quiet days in Warren that could possibly have been imagined. Business generally was at a standstill and almost every industry in the town was shut down except for maintenance crews and most of the stores were closed tightly. All state, city and county offices were closed, and there were no market reports. The Times Mirror did not publish as usual.

Traffic in the city was heavy

and hundreds of out of state cars were noted on the streets passing through Warren. Warrenites took advantage of the reports burdened with families and well filled lunch baskets. The sales of gas at the various stations about town set a record for any time since the war broke out. Tires only caused any hesitancy in Warrenites taking to the road.

Despite the heavy traffic the holiday weekend was fairly free from accidents. There was but one serious accident reported and that took place near Spring Creek and one woman was so seriously injured that she was removed to the Corry Hospital. A number of minor collisions took place but they merely resulted on slight damage to cars.

Union Signs Wage Pact With Sylvania

The Sylvania Electric Products Inc., and the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America have reached complete accord on their first contract in the Warren area. The contract provides plant-wide seniority, grievance procedure with arbitration provision, paid vacations with one half week for employees with six months service, one week for one year employees and two weeks for three years service; time and one half payment for all hours worked over eight hours in any one day and on Saturday the following holidays: New Years Day, Decoration Day, and Labor Day; double time payment for all work on Sunday and Independence Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas. The contract further provides that returning war veterans receive their old jobs back at their old rate of pay plus any wage increases that go into effect during their absence, and that returning veterans have their service time count as seniority with the company.

On the issue of wages the contract provides that either party may open the wage clause once during the life of the agreement. The union urged that the company agree to arbitrate any dispute that may arise on the wage issue and the company has taken the union's proposal under advisement.

BARBER SHOP HOURS

Because of the Monday closing for Labor Day, barber shops of Warren will remain open all day Wednesday.

WILL MEET TONIGHT

The Town Council will hold its September meeting this evening in the City Building. There are a number of matters to come before the councilmen for action.

GIRL LOST PURSE

A brown purse containing a sum of money was lost by one of the girls at the Community Party held last evening at Beatty school. The purse was lost near the school and the finder is asked to return it to the Times-Mirror office.

DATE FOR DRIVES

Chairman Wylie Corbett this morning announced that county-wide drives will be made for waste paper and tin during the present month. The paper drive for the benefit of the United War Fund will be held September 19th and the tin drive will be made on the 26th. Both of these materials are still badly needed and it is hoped that every resident of Warren county will help in making them successful.

WEEKEND WAS QUIET

Over the weekend the police were not taxed with any important work and in spite of the heavy traffic, holiday, etc., not much came in for action by the police. There were the customary howling dogs, folks with screaming radios and hilarity at parties. The coppers were prepared for a busy week but hundreds left the city on their first auto tours in years and the town was decidedly quiet.

GETTING BIG FISH

There seems to be a revival of "catching the big ones" in the river and at Walnut Bend last week Jimmy Nelson, 7, of Oil City hooked into a wall eyed pike that measured 30 inches and weighed nine and one-fourth pounds. The boy was excited over his catch and he was the envy of many old anglers. Some good catches in this vicinity were reported over the week end but there were no record breakers in the lot.

Many Prizes and Trophies At Youngville Horse Show

One thousand dollars in cash prizes and trophies will be divided amongst the winners of thirty-four classes scheduled on the program of the fifteenth annual Youngville Community Horse show to be held at Islar Park, Youngville, on September 7th and 8th. Individuals and business concerns of Youngville and Warren have made possible this generous premium figure.

The Youngville Horse Show, always a popular event with horse owners and spectators alike, is now a member of the Interstate Horse Show Association, an association formed by horse show officials from New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania, to promote the growth and stimulate interest in the horse shows held in these three states. Youngville's membership in this organization will increase the size of the entry list and number of spectators, making the 1945 show more exciting than ever before.

The show is divided into three sessions, the first one on Friday evening at 8 o'clock, September 7th, being devoted to pleasure and western horses. Starting at 2 p. m. on Saturday afternoon there are classes for the four divisions, consisting of five-gaited horses, three-gaited, hunters and jumpers. With other events, there are four stake classes on Saturday night, beginning at 8 o'clock, with the total cash prize on each stake class amounting to $150.

Horsemen from Youngville and Warren form the committee in charge of the show, and Edward B. Day, entry secretary, states that released transportation and other favorable factors are encouraging owners of the top show

for heating, cooking, refrigeration and water heating, as soon as gas burning appliances are available

If you are planning on the use of gas for any of the four big jobs (Home Heating, Cooking, Refrigeration or Automatic Water Heating) here is good news for you. Restrictions on the use of gas have been removed, but gas furnaces, gas ranges, gas refrigerators and automatic gas-fired water heaters, are not yet available in quantity.

It may be some time before you can buy the Gas appliances you want. However, all who want to enjoy the many benefits which gas brings can ultimately have them.

Prospective users of gas—particularly for heating—are asked to get in touch with their dealers, who will be able to supply gas designed equipment, when it becomes available. Pennsylvania Gas Company, in cooperation with appliance dealers, will furnish estimates of cost of gas heating and give engineering data on installation of equipment when desired.

Yes, you can have Gas as soon as Gas Burning Appliances are available.

BARNES

Barnes, August 29—The body of Mrs. Christine Rhines, wife of Henry W. Rhines of Oil City was brought here for interment last Friday afternoon. Mrs. Rhines, nee Christine Donaldson, spent her girlhood years in Barnes, moving to Reno, then on to Oil City, after she was married. The following brothers and sisters survive: Mrs. Chas. Schuler, Barnes; Mrs. E. N. Roselle, Southburg, Conn.; Mrs. Fred Pittcock and James Donaldson of Kane and Lewis Donaldson of Hadley, Penna. Relatives of this vicinity entertained the members of the funeral party at a dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Schuler Friday evening, there being more than fifty who were served.

Mrs. W. D. Barnes went to Erie Saturday evening where she will be a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Barnes and family.

Mr. Jacob Hahn was pleasantly surprised Tuesday, to receive a shower of cards and gifts, honoring him on his eighty-seventh birthday.

The members of the Thimble Club enjoyed an outing Tuesday evening. After a dinner at Angles' Restaurant in Sheffield, they went on to Kane and attended a show.

Mrs. Chas. Cowan spent Monday and Tuesday in Kane.

Mrs. Robert Curtin of Jamestown, N. Y., visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Curtin over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Allen of Olean, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Spicer of Saybrook were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Spicer Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lyle of Dayton, Ohio, were guests at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Lyle over the weekend.

Mrs. Spencer Conklin of Warren spent Tuesday visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rudolph.

Mrs. Robert Carroll and daughter, Miss Ruth Carroll, left for Baltimore, Md., Friday morning, where they expect to make their future home. Dr. Carroll is now engaged in rehabilitation work for the U. S. Government.

Gordon Carlson Seaman 2/c of the U. S. Navy and Miss Lois Carlson of Jamestown, N. Y., were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rudolph.

MAN LEARNS THE HARD WAY

The sixth anniversary of the start of World War II which was observed Saturday, finds it ended, with a sickening record of death and destruction such as never was envisioned short of Armageddon, when "every island fled away and the mountains were not found."

Man can now make the islands flee into nothingness and the mountains disappear through the atomic bomb. With the revelation of this cosmic weapon, cynics immediately prophesied that with "the next war" mankind will destroy itself.

Must there be a next war? It is a saddening fact, but nonetheless a truth, that man learns only "the hard way"—by bitter experience. Only after epidemic decimate the population does he promulgate and enforce public health laws; only after disastrous conflagration does he consider fire-safety regulations; only after unruly rivers have devastated the land for generations does he devise flood control measures.

But he does take these preventive steps—and therein lies the secret of man's progress toward safer living which makes him today the physical better of his forebears in every way.

So, though the pessimistic cynics may see, in modern weapons of war, only a means through which mankind ultimately will destroy itself, others, with more patience, look upon man's overall record with faith. They see him toiling painfully up through the centuries, ever making a safer life and a larger horizon, despite such temporary setbacks as the Dark Ages and the periodically recurring wars, each taking increasingly larger toll in ever more horrible ways. These men of faith know that as recently as the start of World War I, man saw war as a glamorous adventure. But they know that in the bloody muck of Flanders Fields and the trenches of France he learned a lesson. With long-range weapons, men killed other men whom they could not see. Death struck anonymously. Poison gas gave the coup de grace to the last illusion of martial glamor.

Man did learn the lesson from World War I. But he did not learn it well enough and on some, the lesson was entirely lost. These spiritual laggards again sought glory in war, as did their brutish ancestors. And the good men—the men who had learned the lesson of World War I—met them in combat. They fought, not in glamorous mood, but as strong men who face an ugly task and do not shrink it. And they won.

So once again was demonstrated the lesson that no one wins a war—some merely lose more than others. And those who have long-rang faith in mankind may hope that this war—the hardest of "the hard ways"—may be the last lesson man will need on this subject. They hope that the future's history books will not call it World War II—but refer to it as "The Last War."

CHIANG PLEDGES CONSTITUTIONAL DEMOCRACY

In the opinion of DeWitt MacKenzie, Associated Press foreign affairs analyst, there are signs—which one notes with extreme caution—of progress in the Chungking peace-parley between the Chinese Communists and the Nationalist government of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

A communist spokesman in Chungking said yesterday that the talks were still in a "preliminary stage" that no agreement had yet been reached. However, any progress—no matter how small—is encouraging when we are dealing with the bloody quarrel which long has threatened to plunge China's millions into civil war.

The Generalissimo, yielded somewhat to his opponents, has issued a striking V-J Day message to the nation, declaring that now the Japanese war is over "we shall permit no further delay in the inauguration of constitutional democracy." He therefore proposes to summon the national assembly to get the reforms under way.

Chiang promises equal legal status to all political parties and says the government is prepared to consider an increase in the number of delegates to the assembly, this apparently permitting inclusion of Communist delegates for the first time. This would indeed be striding in seven-league boots, for thus far only one party—the Nationalist Kuomintang—has been permitted. The Communists and all others have been barred.

As the outlook for new cars grows better the "look out" for pedestrians grows more important.

WHAT IT MEANS

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON—Unchecked inflation sweeping over the Philippines has aroused U. S. government agencies and private business.

The Army discontinues supplying civilian relief needs to Filipinos Sept. 1.

Then the Foreign Economic Administration is prepared to offer a big helping hand through the Philippine Trade Advisory Board, representing U. S. business firms with prewar contacts in the Philippines.

Together government and business hope to move enough rehabilitation supplies into the islands to wreck the black marketeers who have made living costs in Manila increase eight times over the pre-war prices.

Private traders are counted upon to furnish the bulk of the goods needed, with FEA filling in the scarcest supplies through its subsidiary, the U. S. Commercial Company.

In combating the menace, the Commonwealth government has been severely handicapped by a lack of funds. Filipino officials are hoping FEA and PTA will start a flow of reconstruction goods, ranging from tractors to needles, which will steady the country's shaky economic structure.

Black Market Is Rife

One of the main problems will be Manila's super black market, the source of virtually every product sold in the Philippine capital, and operated on such an alarming scale that the Commerce Department recently said:

"Goods are sold quite openly in market stalls and in dingy stores established in the ruins of buildings at prices 5 to 10 or more times the official ceilings. Aside from the relatively small sales of food at government stores and commissaries, indeed, no goods are available at ceiling prices."

The Department's report cited the efforts of American government representatives to obtain a few kitchen items:

"Glasses of a type that sell in the United States for five cents could not be obtained for less than $3 each. A cup and saucer of the

by works progress aid, have been presented to authorities.

The question of a new municipal building was again brought before the borough council. A proposition to procure PWA help was suggested.

Mr. Wright or A COMMONPLACE BOOK

In one of G. K. Chesterton's most famous murder mysteries, logic demands that the corpse be inside the house. The doors and windows are locked. There is no means of egress, no way in which the murderer could have got the body out. But unhappily it is missing. No one has entered or departed. Father Brown solves the problem by observing that no one ever sees the mailman. He is universally overlooked because he is an integral part of the landscape. The witnesses who swore no one had entered or left had simply fallen into the universal human error of not seeing the gentleman in official blue who, it turns out, was the murderer and carried the body out in his capacious bag.

Warren has one mailman who could never be so easily overlooked. Here is one of his poems called "MOMENTS OF GRASS".

I shall lie down in deep peace on the moments of grass
And look up at the possible stars.
In a deep reverie from the moments of grass
I shall gaze on their glory afar.
I shall look up in awe at the probable stars
At bright promising vands of each ray,
But my eyes shall return to the possible stars
Which are probable stars far away.

I shall lie in deep peace on the moments of grass
And look at the hours of the trees
And the days of man's cities, and the years of the hills;
I shall watch in deep peace all of these.
From the moments of grass with all stars shining down
I shall look on the ages' great peaks
Which eternity's ice shall weather and wear
And where wisdom shall lose what it seeks.

I shall lie in deep peace on the moments of grass
And watch as the waters of life
Flow down to its seas and dissolve in the skies
And return to the great sea in strife;
Past the cities of man and all of his works
In the mountains, on plains, by the sea
While the comet of fate shall flash through the stars
And shine down with the stars upon me.

From the moments of grass in a maelstrom of light
I shall rise through the surfaceless sea
To the probable stars and the possible stars
And their mysteries shall unfold to me.
But all knowledge and wisdom shall turn to cold ash
As the flow of the ages shall pass
And I shall return to kind earth and lie down
In peace on the moments of grass.

The author is Datus Lynn Lacy. He is, as I have said, one of the indefatigable battalion that turns the bleak emptiness of our mail boxes sometimes into stuffed white promise. But he is not just a mailman (though I have often thought that no profession could be more suitable for the development of the very sorts of talent he possesses). He is a philosopher and jester, a homespun sociologist and humanitarian, a reader of many books, an enemy of injustice, an understanding student of human beings and their ways. Finally, he is surely Warren's most prolific and versatile poet.

I say "versatile," because what Datus can do with a stanza, or a brace of stanzas, is something truly remarkable. No matter how rigid the verse-form chosen, no matter how tight the pattern of meter and rhyme, he can prance and cavort his way to the end of a sometimes lengthy poem; and in the process create something that is interesting and often moving. He writes scores of poems each year. Sometimes one of his customer-friends along the mail route requests him to do a little poem for her son overseas. He obliges out of the goodness of his heart. He is an occasional poet of unparalleled resourcefulness. No matter what the occasion may be, a social gathering, a birthday, a memorial dinner, a Christmas celebration, Datus is usually ready with a few, or perhaps many, lines.

He has been kind enough to give me many of his poems

over the past years. I have chosen "MOMENTS OF GRASS" not because it seems to me the best of them, but merely because it is one of the most recent and of moderate length. As time permits in the future I hope I may find space for other poems from the pen of this remarkable Warrenite whose very thought processes seem to gallop in pentameters.

I have been deeply pleased by the surprising reaction to my recent comment on Charles H. Noyes, that Warren poet and Judge of the nineteenth century. When this commonplace book began, I did not expect a very large audience for it. On the whole, I thought its purpose would be well-achieved if a rather limited group of readers enjoyed it, people with more than ordinary interest in literature, drama, history, and the like. Judging from the number of comments and the surprisingly varied sources, it appears that a great many more people, and more types of people, have followed it than I ever hoped for.

While I am on the subject, this is a good opportunity to thank the scores of folks who have offered spontaneous words of appreciation or have sent letters or other marks of interest. I have received some contributions and would gladly welcome them. This commonplace book is not intended as a closed corporation. It is open at all times to its readers, providing only that the contribution is brief and of sufficient general interest to warrant publication.

Returning to Charles H. Noyes, the revival of his memory and reprinting of some of his poems occasioned a wave of pleasure and appreciation which was really surprising. A good many older Warren folk remember him personally, and it seemed to bring special satisfaction to these to think of him once more. Others, like my good friend, that genial personality, O. A. Pressel, have only a reflected, but still very vivid, impression of him. Though he came to Warren two or three years after Judge Noyes' death, Mr. Pressel remembers that his memory was still extraordinarily bright in many walks of Warren life, especially in the Shakespeare Club.

One reader spoke of reading The commonplace book and then going straight to her bookshelves to "dig up"—what a phrase, indeed!—his volume of poems in order to re-read them. Others spoke of some little incident in his life, or some characteristic that was new to me. Surely it was worth while to recall so gracious and civilized a spirit, when his mere remembrance can bring a glow of retrospective pleasure to so many Warren people.

Chapter 30

JANE came down into the airport, bewildered, and her bewilderment increased as they approached the capital. It seemed suddenly corpulent, overgrown, even rowdy. Eagerly she identified landmarks, reassured herself that this was a former home ground.

She spoke to the cab driver as they neared a spot where she'd once sat swinging her heels while her mother watched models parade. "Can you take my bags on to the hotel?"

Her family name was magic. They had exactly what Miss Grey would need; yes, they'd send everything to the hotel by messenger, immediately.

No sooner was she in her room than she was at the telephone.

The operator seemed forever reaching Mark Sheridan's office. When she did, an impatient voice assisted Mr. Sheridan was not in or would he be in before the following day.

She tried his club. He was not there. No, they could not say when or if he'd return that evening; was there any message?

From the club secretary, after identifying herself, Jane received the comforting news that Mr. Sheridan was dining at the New Rathmore that evening with his former secretary. "As you are his Western manager, Miss Grey, you ought know Miss Hansen."

The boxes had arrived from the postoffice while Jane was talking. He turned to eye them now. And to think of the money I've wasted— Or had she? "But if it's fool enough to be even sent with Carla—" And how did she know that his dinner engagement with Carla wasn't business?

Suddenly her head went up and she dashed to the telephone to call friends in Alexandria. She'd dine in the same room with Carla and Mark.

"Don, Jane Grey speaking. Don, would you and Ruth be my guests this evening?"

Ruth was in North Carolina, but Don would be delighted to act as Jane's escort.

She found him awaiting her, handsome and distinguished in his lieutenant-colonel's uniform, and it was balm to her torn spirit to realize this husband of an often-visited school friend didn't recognize her.

"What have you done to yourself?" he demanded abruptly. "It's that hat with the shiny thingamabobs on it."

"Russian shako with sequins," laughed Jane. "And the dress?"

He shook his head. "Ruth's been bemoaning the passing of long formal, but that—" He laughed with her. "I'll bet before this evening's over Ruth's going to receive a wire telling her I'm stepping out with a green-eyed Mata Hari. That calls for orchids, green ones, and while the boy rounds them up we'll have cocktails and you'll tell me what's hiding behind those restless eyes. You know you've looked at every man in the lobby in the last five minutes."

In the shadowy intimacy of the cocktail lounge she told him everything, and was rewarded by the boyish grin which was ever his greatest asset, fooling his enemies into believing no genius could look so guileless.

"Tell me," she ordered.

"Your Miss Carla has been wanting to work on me for some time," he confessed. "I'll give her the opportunity tonight. We'll try to make it a foursome, and if I can tear her away from the mighty Mark, I'll take her off his hands and drop her some place... Speaking of the angels—"

MARK and Carla were just entering the lounge. Jane found her hands making strange little feminine movements, smoothing the blouse with its adroitly set sequins. She took a hurried glance into a nearby mirror for reassurance.

They waited quietly until the other two repaired to the dining room; that is, Don waited quietly. Jane hadn't known she had so many nerves, all clamoring for action.

"Ready?" Don stood up and offered his arm, and slowly, taking their dignified time, they walked into the dining room and to their table, not too far from Mark Sheridan's.

"Don't look," whispered Don, "but our girl friend is about to be carried out on a stretcher. She has no pulse; she's drawn his attention to you... Here he comes—"

Jane looked up to see Mark Sheridan, having committed the unpardonable sin of leaving Carla alone, bearing down on their table.

"Why—why, Miss—Miss—"

"Good evening, Mark; haven't you two met before? This is Miss Grey."

Don, thought Jane several times that evening, was being wasted in Washington. He should have been a field marshal. The other three merely responded to his direction.

Somehow he caught and held Carla Hansen's indignant attention away from the other two.

"I—" began Sheridan, when Don arose, Carl with him. "Excuse us a moment?" he asked. "There's something I want to show Miss Hansen."

They were barely out of the dining room when Sheridan arose abruptly. "Let's get out of this place. About as much privacy as in a fishbowl, and what I want to discuss—"

YMCA Will Resume Adult Bible Class

The Community Adult Bible Study Class of the Y. M. C. A. will be continued during the coming fall and winter season, with the instructor who was the key to the class's success last season: Rev. Arthur B. Fowler.

This was decided at a meeting of representatives of two groups: the Religious Emphasis Committee of the "Y", and the membership of last year's class. The class this coming season will be conducted in two semesters of ten sessions each. The first semester will open on Thursday, Oct. 4, and close on Dec. 13. The second period will be from January 17 to March 28.

All sessions will be held on Thursday evenings. In the first period, one weekly session will be omitted, the one which would fall on Thanksgiving Day. In the second semester, the session in the week of Preaching Mission will be omitted.

Those who participated in the class taught by Rev. Fowler from February to May in this year were greatly pleased and will be enthusiastic boosters for the class this coming fall and winter. All men and women of Warren and vicinity are eligible to attend, and there are no fees.

Repairs Will Be Made To YMCA Pool

Since this is the last day of school vacation and the swimming pool is scheduled to close down tomorrow for repairs and improvements, the Y. M. C. A. has abandoned the regular schedule for Tuesdays and made it possible for all groups to enjoy their last vacation dip in the refreshing water.

This afternoon there were swimmers for the girls, the Cadets, and the Juniors. Tonight the hour from 7 to 8 o'clock has been set aside for Older Boys, and from 8:15 to 9:30 for mixed swim. In the latter period, men and their wives, boys and girl friends, and parents and children may enjoy a refreshing swim.

Tomorrow the pool will be empty and will remain so until about Sept. 15. During the ten-day period the natatorium will undergo some repairs and painting, a good scrubbing, and a new official spring board will be installed. If not before, the pool is expected to be open for use again on the 17th.

The new "Y" Gym floor is progressing nicely. All of the old flooring has been removed and the new concrete foundation has been completed, preparatory to the laying of asphalt tile. The latter job cannot be done, however, until the foundation concrete is completely dry and this drying is expected to take approximately three weeks.

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR
She's as Lively as a Youngster—
Now her Backache is better
Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of filtering the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.
When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's gives happy relief and will help the 16 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

THE DAWN OF A NEW DAY ... Peace on Earth

Now that Japan has surrendered, the aggressor nations which sought to destroy our way of life, have been 'totally crushed—but not without much bloodshed and suffering by millions of Americans; together with our brave allies. Thousands of our youth have died that we may live in a peaceful, free, and democratic world.

But the rejoicing we feel in our hearts today cannot erase from our memory the suffering and heartaches which always accompany war. Let us resolve to ever dedicate ourselves to preserving the freedom that has been so dearly won. Greed and love of power must never again be permitted to plunge mankind into chaos and destruction.

Break Tradition

Preston Grover, writing from New Delhi, India, reveals that from the peculiarly Oriental seclusion of Purdah, a number of Indian girls have braved the eyes of men and the condemnation of families and communities to join the Women's Army Corps. Even now the Purdah girls have not altogether thrown off the shelter they normally would have worn all their lives. They go to the offices in military establishments swathed in the enveloping burqa, a dress looking like a Ku Klux Klan costume.

For a time, some of the girls tried to work during the day shielded in this gear, but it was too awkward. Not only was enlistment in the WAC a pioneering step for these girls, it was a shocker for relatives. Some girls came to work for months accompanied by Mama or a near relative, who hovered outside the office all day long waiting to protect daughter from the horrid outside world. To westerners or "Europeans", as all western peoples are called there, coming out of the seclusion of Purdah may sound like a small thing. But to the girl and her family it is about as jarring as for an American lassie to go to work clad only in a brassiere and silken panties.

One of the most successful burqa groups enrolled is in Julundur, in the Punjab, where Muslims predominate. All the girls wear one of the regulation types of WAC costumes: a simple shirt and skirt or jacket and dress, or a compromise with the Indian dress, a WAC jacket worn with either a long, sweeping khaki colored sari or pajamas.

Most of the girls operate files or serve as clerks, but some have been sent to officer training schools. Some probably never will return to the confinement of Purdah. For them the new life has dawned. But others will be brought back to the old ways by family and neighborhood pressure.

Curtain Rises on Players' Season With Launching of Membership Drive

Astrid Cowden, and S. Montgomery McClure, are in charge of the membership campaign which today opens the 16th year of the Warren Players. They report that the campaign will continue for ten days and that membership will be solicited only by mail and public announcement, without personal contact.

Advance signs promise that this will be one of the brightest seasons in the long and successful history of the local stage. The end of many a war-time curtainment brings a sigh of relief to the anxious players who have weathered innumerable production problems during the past four years. This season will see the return of many veteran players whose work either on the stage or behind the scenes had contributed much to the pleasure of Warren's play-goers in pre-war years. Also available again is the stage equipment which could not be obtained in the days of rationing.

Campaign directors announce that, again, there will be no season tickets. Admission to the Players' productions will be by membership card only, or by the more expensive route of purchasing admissions on the nights of each production. Four major productions feature the season's program, the first to be the Broadway hit, "Over 21", which will be offered to the public on October 10 and 11.

Applicants for membership can choose between several membership categories, which brings the pleasure of enjoying the four public presentations from "out front", or active membership, which adds the privilege of witnessing or participating in the studio productions and the other varied activities that are a part of the Warren Players program.

Individual letters regarding the 1945-46 season have been mailed to all old and many prospective members.

MRS. NAZZARENO SALERNO

Theresa DeMarco Salerno, wife of Nazzeno Salerno, 140 Hall street, passed away in Warren General Hospital at 8:40 p. m. Monday, after an extended illness. She was born July 2, 1904, in Warren and had been a resident of this community all her life.

Surviving, besides her husband, are one daughter and two sons: Mrs. Charles Robertson, at home; Bruno Salerno, pharmacist's mate second class, and Albert Salerno, electrician's mate, third class, both in the U. S. Navy; also four sisters: Mrs. Joseph Papalia, Mrs. Bruno Salerno, Mrs. Archie Barber and Mrs. Ann Angellotti, all of Warren.

Removal will be made late this afternoon to the family home, where friends may call and from where the Rosary will be recited at 8:30 p. m. Thursday. Funeral services will be held at ten o'clock

Friday morning at St. Joseph's church, followed by interment in St. Joseph's cemetery.

ELMER LINDELL

Elmer Lindell, 75 year old Lander resident, died in Warren General Hospital at one o'clock Saturday morning after a week's illness.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Ethel Pehlman, Washington, D. C., and one brother, Peter Lindell, Russell RD 2. His wife preceded him in death in 1933.

Removal was made to the Schoonover Funeral Home in Sugar Grove and services in his membership were held there at two o'clock Monday afternoon. Rev. Grant Mottern, of Jamestown, officiated and interest was made in Foster cemetery at Lander, with the following acting as bearers: Ray, Homer, Ernest, Paul and Andrew Lindell and Jay Cowles.

Grand Jury Discharged Monday P. M.

Members of the September Grand Jury were discharged with the thanks of the Court yesterday afternoon after they had had returned four True Bills and asked to be excused from inspecting the various properties at this time.

The Grand Jury convened at 10 a. m. Monday morning and Harold Flowers was chosen foreman and Grace Campbell was chosen as secretary.

District Attorney J. H. Goldstein presented four cases before the Grand Jury and True Bills were returned in each case.

The charge of murder preferred against Mrs. Adeline McKinney by Sheriff L. C. Linder was the first heard and it occupied most of the morning hours. A True Bill was returned. Following dinner served at the Blue and White Restaurant to the jurors the case of the Commonwealth vs. James Richard Watmuff, charged with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated was heard and a True Bill was returned. Warren Clark and Lester H. Meuthert both charged with sodomy by Chief of Police George Haehn and Lieut. M. Evan were taken up and True Bills were returned.

The jury then asked to be excused from inspection of the Rouse Hospital and other county property and was discharged.

Three Have Close Call In Sunday Crash

Three Corry residents had narrow escape from death Sunday morning about eight o'clock when a Buick coupe in which they were riding left the highway between Garland and Spring Creek near the Deerhead Inn, and after traveling out of control on the left berm for over 200 feet swerved to the right and rolled over between the pavement and the edge of an embankment leading to the Pennsylvania railroad tracks. The victims were Mabel F. Taylor, 67, letta Bibow and her husband, Robert Bibow, all of Corry. According to Pvt. Louis Foradora, of the Corry barracks of the state police, who was in charge of an investigation started before the arrival of Sheriff L. E. Linder, a car is owned by Mrs. Taylor at Mr. Bibow was driving at the time.

Apparently traveling at a high rate of speed the coupe enroled east was off the pavement on the left side for almost 220 feet during which it struck the upper part of a culvert which caused both tires on the left side to blow off. It swerved a cross the pavement some 120 feet from the culvert as rolled over once or twice. When it stopped Mrs. Bibow was found under the right rear wheel, and was necessary for rescuers to jam up the car and remove the wife before she could be extricated. A where it was reported today that condition of Mrs. Bibow is favorable while that of Mrs. Taylor is good. Mr. Bibow was discharged after being treated.

DRAGONS DOWN EAGLES, 26-0; LOSE TO ACADEMY, 20-2

Three Squads Trample Y.H.S. Eleven; Fumbles and Aerial Interception Mark Erie Game

Warren High's Dragon gridlers opened the 1945 football slate last weekend by trouncing Youngsville, 26-0, on Saturday, and receiving a 20-2 loss at the hands of a fast Erie Academy eleven on Labor Day Monday.

Three full squads trampled the Eagles Saturday at Russell Field with quarterback Louie Bonace packing the attack with two touchdowns to his credit. Junior Dave Lopez started the scoring in the late part of the first stanza when he snatched an aerial from Bonace on the 20-yard line and raced across for the first score, the try for the extra point failing. The second tally came mid-way in the second when the Dragons took possession on the mid-stripe and, through a series of ground plays, marched all the way to the Eagle 11-yard line, from where Bonace plunged for the touchdown. Fullback Jimmy Scallie, who did a marvelous running job along with Bonace, plunged for the point, giving the Dragons a 13-0 edge.

The proteges of new coach Art Amann made only one serious threat. In the early part of the third, Randinelli intercepted a pass on the Eagle 26, setting the stage for an outstanding series of aerial plays which sent the losers all the way to the Warren 15, where they were stopped. With Lovison doing the heaving, the Youngsville boys recorded four straight complete heaves, putting them within fifteen yards of scoring. "Sig" Decker intercepted the fifth pass to halt the Eagle march.

Warren's third tally as recorded in the early minutes of the final stanza, when Tannier intercepted a pass on the Eagle 47. After two running plays, Bonace went twenty-three yards on a kick reverse and outstanding blocking to score, making it 19-0.

Warren took possession again after a block kick and Jimmy Scallie went 23 yards around right end to put the pigskin on the Eagles' 13. Shanshala scored on reverse to increase the lead to 26-0, and Scallie plunged for the point.

Officials: Umpire, Kelly; Referee, Grassberger; Headlinesman, Abele; Erie.

Erie Academy proved too much for the locals on Monday. Paced by the speedy groundwork of left halfback Al Fracassi, the Lions lashed over three touchdowns, two for Warren fumbles and one on pass interception.

The two elevens battled neck-and-neck in the opening stanza, though Academy went as far as the Dragon one-yard line in the latter part. The local line let out all its strength to halt advance a few seconds before whistle-time. In the second quarter, however, Dave Lopez, who received a bad out over his right eye, fumbled and Erie recovered on Warren's 22. Fracassi raced around right end on the following play to score. Coyne plunged for the extra point.

Shortly afterwards, a bad center to Fracassi went over his head and five Dragon linemen smeared him behind the goal to give the locals their only two points on a safety. Erie scored twice in the fourth stanza. A second fumble by Lopez was recovered by the Lions on Warren's 28 and Bartelson heaved a pass to DeMarco, who went over for the second, touchdown. Late in the period, Fracassi intercepted Jim Scallie's heave on his own 10-yard line and raced ninety yards for the score, making it 19-2. Bartelson passed to DeMarco for the point.

The Dragons made one last effort to score in the late minutes of the quarter, but Academy's line bucked up and prevented the advance.

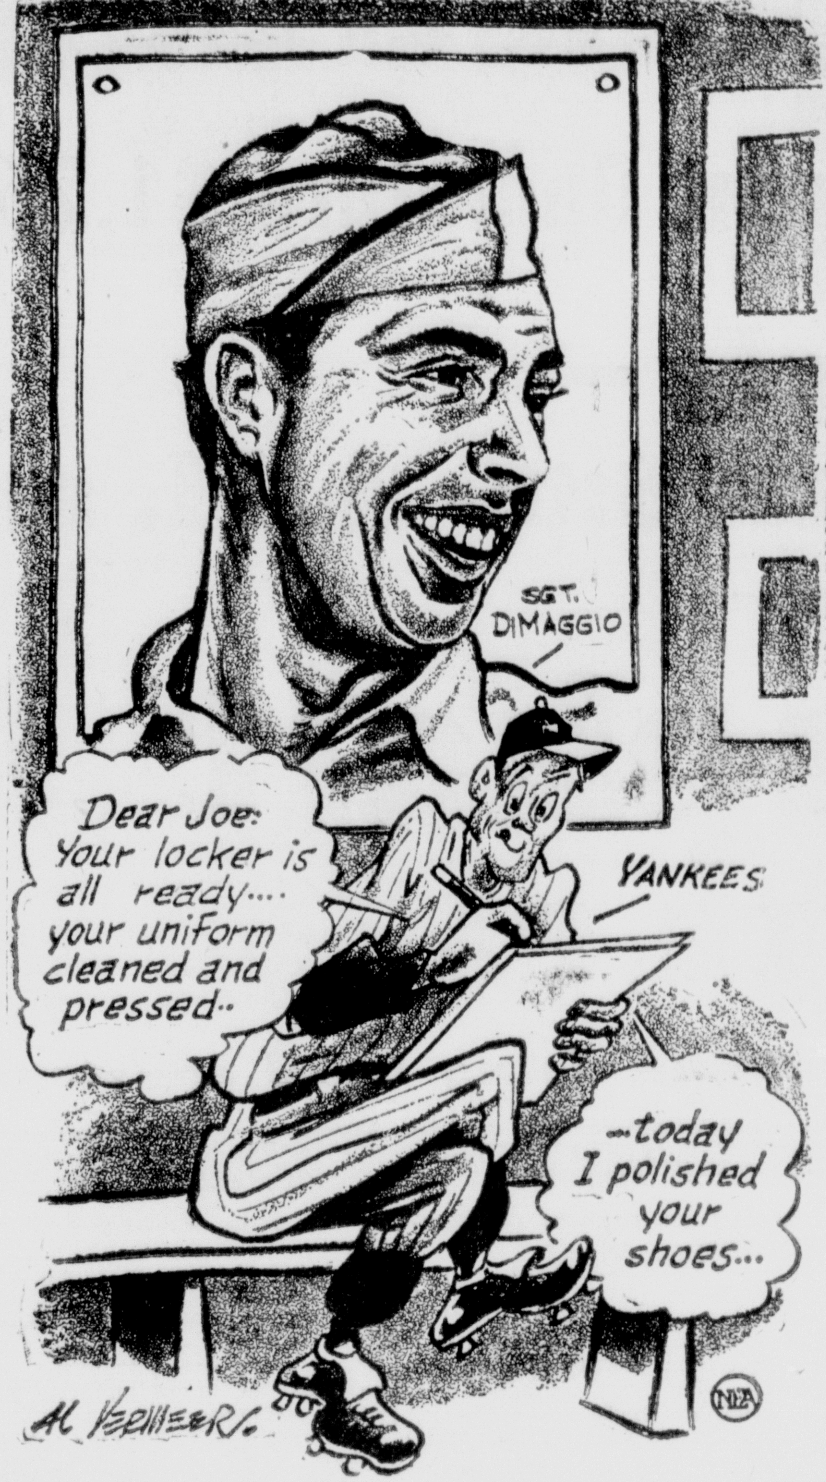

Next Saturday afternoon, the Dragons are hosts to Kane High School on Russell Field at 2:30.

Behind the Lines

A word of thanks in behalf of Warren High School and the general football public to The National Transit Company for erecting the new flagpole on the west side of Russell Field. All the materials and labor were furnished by the company through the courtesy of Roy Guignon. The field should also have a score board to further complete the grounds.

PONY League first division teams move into the Governor's Cup playoff tomorrow night, with first-place Batavia being host to fourth-place Bradford and second-place Jantown entertaining Lockport. The two winners will meet to decide the 1945 PONY League championship.

Forgers Down Wellsville In Season Finale

Heinick, who engaged in a stiff pitchers' duel yesterday at Wilder Field with Hines, is a former star of the old New York-Penn League, and Rosintski, Wellsville's second sacker, played for the National Forge somewhere along 1923. Rosintski went to the St. Louis Cards but eventually talked himself out of a sparkling diamond career.

Ex-light eight champ Sammy Angott served notice today that he is out to regain his old title and add the welterweight crown, too. The Washington, Pa., boxer is training in Pittsburgh for his September 18 bout with Ike Williams. And he insists that his broken hand, which has twice necessitated his retirement is all right. It seems that we've heard that story before.

Lopez Equals 20-Game Mark Of Hartnett

BY ELAINE KAHN

Pittsburgh, Sept. 4.—(P)—Quiet, mild-mannered Aphonso Lopez squatted behind the bat and caught his 1,793rd game—thereby equaling the 20-year record set by Gabby Hartnett.

The Pittsburgh Pirate backstop, who tied the mark yesterday, telescoped his record into 17 big league seasons. Now 37, he figures he still has several years of good baseball in him and is likely to set a mark that will stand for quite a while.

He needs to play in only 21 more games this season to tie the market set by Bill Dickey of the Yankees of catching 100 or more games in each of 13 seasons.

"I never bothered much with records," said the affable senior. "If I did, I would have broken them long ago. One year I stopped at 99 games and another at 98."

Somewhat the handsome Spaniard is rarely mentioned when great catchers are discussed, a neglect perhaps due to his biggest disappointment — he has never played with a pennant winner.

Pirate President Bill Benswanger feels this could have been corrected had Boston been willing to part with Lopez earlier.

"We tried to get him for four and a half years," Benswanger said. "If we had, we would have won the pennant in 1938. Al is definitely one of the greatest catchers in the game."

Lopez finally came to Pittsburgh in 1940, after four years with the Braves. Prior to that he spent six seasons with Brooklyn.

Of the pitchers he has worked with, Lopez lists Dazzy Vance as having the most ability, Van Munson as the fastest and Deacon Danny McFadden as the smartest adding "but the greatest of all was Dizzy Dean."

Paul Waner former Pirate outfielder, is his nomination as the game's most dangerous hitter. "He didn't have the power some of the

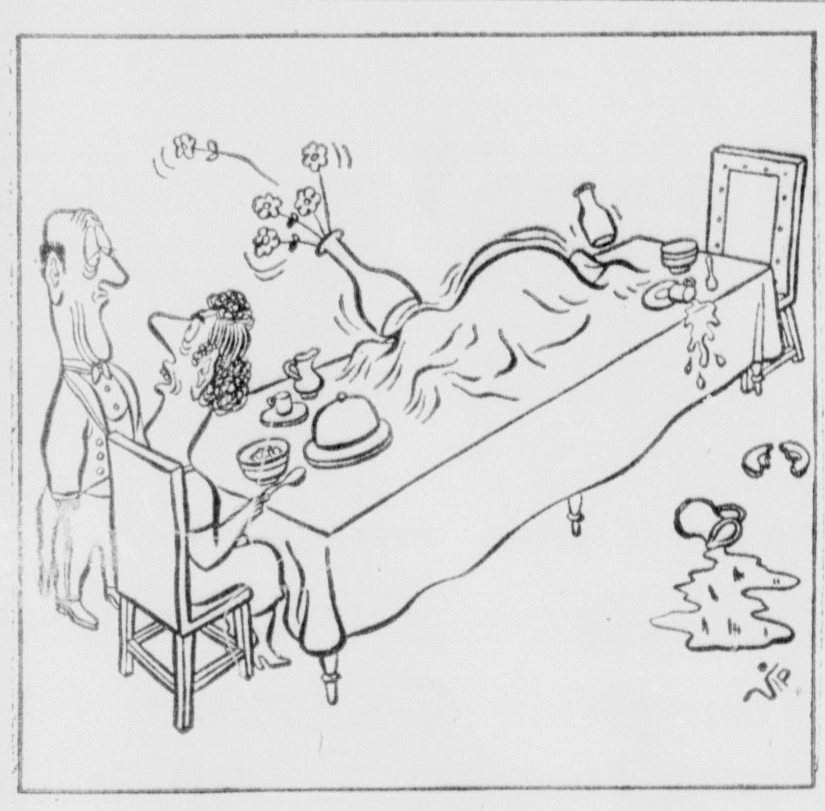

Fans To Fete Honus Wagner Tomorrow Nite at Pittsburgh

Baseball fans of Western Pennsylvania and the Tri-State District are all set for a huge and enthusiastic turnout at Forbes Field in Pittsburgh next Wednesday night, September 5, in honor of the immortal Honus Wagner, with a National League championship game between the Pirates and the colorful Brooklyn Dodgers at the centerpiece as the setting.

Individuals, civic bodies, other organizations and entire communities have been working hard untidely to make the occasion a night to be remembered in the life of this greatest of all history's baseball stars, and indications are strong that it will be the greatest tribute ever paid to any ball player. All parts of the Tri-State region will be represented in the throng paying homage to the famous "Flying Dutchman."

It is appropriate that "Wagner Night" should promise to be a record-breaker in the history of such baseball occasions, because Honus himself was such a record-breaker and almost incredibly brilliant performer that many good judges pronounce him to have been the greatest player that ever lived.

ACCUSED

I've been accused of being a "Yes Man" . . . and come to think of it—I am! That is, I like to say "Yes" when people ask for a loan. Which is only logical, after all, for the more times I say "Yes" the more loans I make. And since making Personal Loans is my full-time business, that's mighty important to me.

*Usually I can say "Yes" in a hurry. But even when circumstances are unusual, I try to find a way to work out a deal. That's why Personal is so often able to make loans that others cannot.

*Of course—once in a while I can't find a way. That's natural. When that happens, I personally sit down with the customer in a private office and discuss the situation frankly, on a common sense basis.

Like most people, I don't believe in unnecessary borrowing . . . but when a loan is needed or to your advantage, I'll be glad to say "Yes". Anytime you need extra cash—see me, won't you? Right now, for instance. See me at Personal Finance Co., 216 Liberty St., second floor, over Lester Shoe Store. Phone 285.

held its first session under foreign surveillance. Emperor Hirohito attended the brief meeting in the house of peers. He was away from 10:40 a. m. (9:40 p. m. Monday Eastern War Time) until 11:15 a. m. There was no immediate mention of what occurred.

American correspondents were to be permitted to attend tomorrow's diet meeting after General MacArthur's headquarters upheld their protest against being searched at the door. Unsigned, undressed invitations delivered at the public relations office by Japanese said the correspondents would be searched and could neither drink nor smoke during the meeting.

MacArthur abolished all these restrictions. The Japanese communiques, which have been announcing occupation schedules ahead of MacArthur's headquarters (but presumably with his permission) reported 15,460 occupation troops would enter a number of points in the Kanagawa and Shizuoka prefectures—west and south of Tokyo—preceding occupation of the capital.

It listed the cities to be occupied as Horatsuka and Oiso, 6,500 troops; Odawara, 2,250; Gotemba, 720; Hatano, 1,020; Unendhara, 1,020, and 3,350 in Hachioji city, the metropolitan district of Tokyo. Radio Tokyo also reported 20,000 American troops were landing today at the Tachikawa army air base, northwest of Tokyo. They will set up headquarters at Tokyo University of Commerce at nearby Yabo village and will extend their occupancy into other towns in the area.

Troops of Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger's Eighth Army already had crossed the Tama river, Tokyo's south boundary, but were careful not to enter the main city before receiving his signal. The Japanese officers complained the Americans on their smartly executed amphibious landing, which 1,600 armed Japanese troops witnessed.

In Philippines
With the Seabees

Ernest James Wilcox, storekeeper, second class, of Route 2, Warren, is a member of the naval construction battalion attached to Service Force, Pacific Fleet, which was engaged in building a huge staging area for U. S. military forces in the Philippines when news of Japan's surrender was received.

This battalion landed with invasion forces and fought its way through Jap snipers and mortar fire for its share in the successful Philippine conquest. The unit was on its second Pacific tour of duty when hostilities ceased. During the first 21 months overseas, the battalion personnel built a large supply and repair base on Midway Island, and an airfield and base in Hawaii, which remains one of the world's largest and most widely used air terminals. The second oldest organized Seabee construction battalion in the navy, this unit is in its fourth year of service.

JAP-AMERICANS TO WORK IN THE EAST

Philadelphia, Sept. 4.—(P)—Two carloads of Japanese-Americans who plan to make their homes on the eastern seaboard have arrived here en route to jobs at the Seabrook Farms, Bridgeton, N. J.

There were 131 adults and 36 children in the group, the third to come from the Relocation Center at Parker, Ariz., since the war ended.

Most of new arrivals said yesterday they lived in California before the war and do not desire to return.

SEABEES BEAT THE
MARINES TO ROTA

Rota, The Marianas, Sept. 4.—(P)—The Marines landed today on this island 32 miles north of Guam and found a large sign reading: "The 48th SeaBees welcome the Marines to Rota."

The SeaBees had come ashore on this surrendered Japanese base three days earlier to examine the airstrip.

COURT CRIER DIES
Duncansville, Sept. 4.—(P)—Isaac M. Hess, for many years crier of Blair County court and former postmaster and councilman, died yesterday. He was 87.

FORMER BURGESS DEAD
Hollidaysburg, Sept. 4.—(P)—Former Burgess Joseph S. Filtz, 57, died yesterday following a brief illness.

EXTENDED FORECAST
Extended forecast for the period, Wednesday, Sept. 5 through Sunday, Sept. 9: Western Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia: Generally fair Wednesday and Thursday; scattered showers Friday and probably Saturday; fair on Sunday; slowly rising temperature, but cooler over the weekend; temperature average above normal.

Souvenir Kimono
Always Runs Away

By HAL BOYLE
Yokohama, Sept. 4.—(P)—With money in their pockets and nothing to buy, four American soldiers sat on a ledge outside a bank bemoaning the fact they could find no souvenirs for sale in all Yokohama. The boys were all looking for silk kimonos to send home.

They were Pfc. Ira S

Bronze Stars Posthumously Awarded Here

The Bronze Star Medal has been awarded posthumously to two Warren families, whose sons both died in action. The medals were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Rapp, 116 Pennsylvania avenue, west, the parents of Pfc. Raymond D. Rapp, and to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hooven, 101 College street, Youngsville, parents of Pfc. Milton K. Hooven.

The award was made to the parents of Pfc. Rapp for "heroic achievement in action on May 29, 1944. Private First Class Rapp crawled through heavy hostile fire in an attempt to procure mortar ammunition for an attack on enemy positions. He was killed before he could complete his mission, but his courageous conduct reflects credit on the Army of the United States."

The medal presented to Mr. and Mrs. Hooven cited Pfc. Milton Hooven "for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against the enemy on 9 January, 1945. Pfc. Hooven was a radio operator with the forward observer party assigned to the 290th Infantry when 88 mm fire came into their position causing many treebursts in the densely wooded area. With unflinching devotion to duty and complete disregard for personal danger he left a place of comparative safety and set up his radio for operation in an attempt to contact his liaison officer. As he stuck valiantly to his radio, enemy mortar and 88 mm fire bursting in a nearby tree took his life. This display of devotion to duty beyond the requirements of his assignment reflects great credit upon himself and his organization."

Pvt. Charles Stephens has notified his wife, who resides at 601 W. Fifth avenue, of the safe arrival in Manila in the Philippine Islands.

IS ADVANCED
Robert E. Abraham, Youngsville, now serving aboard the USS Solace, navy hospital ship, in the Pacific, has been advanced to yeoman, second class. His wife, Janice, lives in Youngsville.

MEET IN PACIFIC
Word has been received from Herbert G. Stanton, CM 1/c, stationed somewhere in the Pacific, that he recently met and spent a few days' leave with his son, Gerald E. Stanton, coxswain, on the island on which the latter is stationed in the Pacific. Another son, Ralph E. Stanton, recently returned from twenty-one months in England and is at present stationed in Washington, D. C. A third son, Eugene O. Stanton, 81/c is now on Guam.

ARE DISCHARGED
Included among the Pennsylvania soldiers discharged at Indiantown Gap Wednesday were: Sgt. Everett J. Sailor, Rt. No. 1, and S/Sgt. Donald Gruber, Box 188, Russell.

Friends of Ellsworth Schreengost, formerly of Russell have received word that he is now on his way to the Pacific.

Pvt. Paul C. Muscare, son of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Muscare, has arrived from Camp Wheeler, Ga., to spend a ten-day furlough. He will report to Ft. Meade, Md., before going overseas.

IS DISCHARGED
Among the Pennsylvania soldiers discharged at Indiantown Gap Friday was Pfc. Clyde A. Stoffel, Box 200, North Warren.

ARE REDEPLOYED
Among the Pennsylvania soldiers who arrived at Indiantown Gap Friday for redeployment and given furloughs prior to reassignment were Pfc. Giles C. Collins, 831 Fourth avenue, and Pfc. Emil Rosentrotter, 418 Pennsylvania avenue, east.

Fans to Fete Honus Wagner Tomorrow Nite at Pittsburgh

ed. That he was at least the greatest shortstop ever to stand on spikes is admitted by every man in baseball.

Wagner's right to such lofty ranking is borne out by the amazing figures he left behind. Some of the National League records set by him and still standing are: Led the league in batting eight times; hit 300 seventeen times, and consecutively, into the bargain; played most games, 2,785; made most base-hits, 3,430; made most singles, 2,431; made most doubles, 648; made most triples, 250; led league in doubles most times, eight years; led league in doubles most consecutive times, four years; most times at bat, 10,427; played in 100 or more games 19 years in succession.

In his major league career from 1897 through 1917, Honus placed many other remarkable feats to his credit. He led the league in speedboats in stolen bases five times; in run-scoring twice; in leaguer ball, and in the infield at that, when he was 43 years old. There will be "various features of entertainment for the fans before the start of the Pirates-Dodger game at 8:30 o'clock. Among the gifts to Wagner, the Pittsburgh Club, it is disclosed by President William E. Benswanger will turn over to Honus all its share of the receipts above the intake of a average game. Many fans from Steubenville, O., and Warren, Pa. where Wagner made his professional start in the early '90's, will be among those present.

THE STORY OF THE ATOM

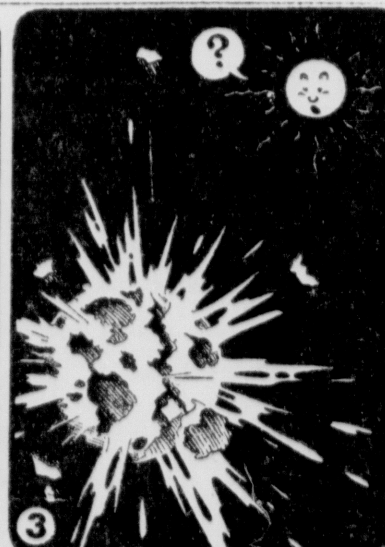

No. 1: The Atomic World Is Born

(1) Before August 5, 1945, most people who had heard about the great energy stored in atoms thought the idea the merest theory. But on that date, the vast power of the atom was demonstrated. An atomic bomb, the explosive content of which weighed only a few pounds, was dropped on the Japanese base city Hiroshima, from an American plane. The army base was blown into a cloud of smoke, dust and rubble, rising 40,000 feet.

(2) People the world over were aghast as scientists estimated the power of the atomic bomb. The power in one pound of explosive was equivalent to 15,000 tons of TNT, enough to fill four trains of 75 cars. The atoms in the bomb contained a potential power equivalent to that produced by nearly all the hydro-electric plants in the United States, running for one hour, or approximately 10,000,000 kilowatt hours.

(3) People realized at once that the atomic bomb could be a great source of evil. A small enemy plane, stealing through the overcast with a few pounds of bombs, could wipe out such great cities as New York or Chicago. A few tons could submerge such an island as Japan. A heavy enough bomb might cause an earthquake or some other great world-wide disaster.

(4) Other people, more hopeful and optimistic, saw the force inside the atom becoming a great power for good. Under proper control, it could unshackle man forever from the chains of hard labor. A pound could drive a great liner many times across the world's oceans. Just a few grams would keep an automobile running the entire life of the car. Less than a gram could easily send an airplane around the world without stopping to refuel.

Tomorrow: The Secret of Atomic Power
